The objective of this briefing is to provide information about Multnomah County's Decision Support System - Justice (DSSJ) and give an update on recent accomplishments and improvements.

DSSJ is a database that combines criminal justice information from major local public safety agencies, including police, sheriff, prosecution, Circuit Court, and parole and probation. It provides policy makers and analysts with necessary tools for data-driven and evidence based decision making. DSSJ allows public safety agency users to create reports tracking events in the Multnomah County public safety system, such as calls to 911, reported criminal incidents, arrests, case prosecution, sentencing, supervision and criminal history. County public safety analysts use DSSJ data to inform policy making, program design and performance, and measure public safety agency outputs and performance.

DSSJ recently completed a successful transition to a new software platform, an improvement in technology that will lead to greater efficiencies and cost savings.
