Climate Action Plan // A history of leadership

A photograph of the Portland Tilikum Crossing bridge, a cable-stayed bridge spanning the Willamette River in Portland, Oregon. The bridge features two tall pylons and multiple stay cables supporting a roadway. In the foreground, a paved walkway leads towards the bridge. The river below is blue, with several small boats, including kayaks and canoes, visible. The background shows a clear blue sky with some white clouds and a distant shoreline with trees.
