BARBARA SPEARS barbara.spears@comcast.net
concerning the 2011 FY ~~pr~~ MCAS proposed budget.

As a lifelong resident of Portland, taxpayer, business person, and most importantly, animal lover, I am here to promote the following goal:

“To end the killing of dogs and cats of healthy, treatable or rehabilitatable health and temperament and provide humane alternatives for feral cats.”

The only way to achieve this goal is an animal services agency and shelter with a broad-ranging strategic plan complete with performance indicators and consistent oversight. And at the heart of this strategic plan is a simple, fair, predictable and, most importantly, SUSTAINABLE source of funding.

The Multnomah County Animal Services Agency described in this budget request falls far short of this.

In the business world, we believe “It’s all in the numbers.”

Of the many categories of numbers in this proposal I could take issue with, these are the most compelling:

The projection of euthanasia or kill rates ranging from 43 - 64% of all animals entering the shelter. In real numbers, that's between 3,635 and 5,089 animal deaths per year.

This level of killing is inconsistent with this community's values. The public simply will not "buy into" an agency which euthanizes more than half of the animals in its care.

It is especially unacceptable when compared with cities like:

Reno , Nevada - Washoe County - population 339,486

Charlottesville, Virginia - population 45,049

Ithaca, New York -Tompkins County - population 101,779

The City Council of Austin, Texas - population 757,688, recently adopted a plan to increase the save rate of the 12,000 animals entering its public shelter every year to 90%.

Let's not compare our euthanasia rates to failing agencies and declare defeat, let's compare them with successful agencies and make all necessary changes.

Forward-thinking cities and counties throughout the country are moving quickly to ensure healthy outcomes for all the dogs and cats in their care, PROVING THAT IT CAN BE DONE.

We have their success to serve as a model for ours.

This is the FUTURE of animal control. And it is LONG OVER-DUE in progressive, pet-friendly Portland and Multnomah County.

JUNE 2, 2010 Amended

The requested budget reads as if it is a direct result of the recommendations submitted by the Joint City/County Animal Services Task Force. The central, and specific, goal of this task force was to "provide viable options that would identify sustainable funding mechanisms that put the bulk of the cost of OPERATING an animal services program on the animal owners".

We are wondering, Chair Cogen, if you or any of the Commissioners are aware that this goal has been changed for this Budget Request? It now reads, "the cost of funding only RESTORED AND ENHANCED services on animal owners".

As I think you will agree, the revised wording justifies the request for continued funding from the general fund, thus avoiding the need to generate a larger part of their own operating revenue, and all subsequent and ensuing accountabilities.

Thus, the following conclusion is written in the budget request:

"The success of the plan will absolutely require continued baseline funding from the county general fund. Fees, fines, regardless of levels of participation, are not adequate to support a successful animal services program".

This is simply untrue, and we have proven it.

Challenged by the original task force goal, "to identify a stable and predictable source of funding which puts the cost of operating an animal services program on animal owners", we travelled to Calgary, Alberta, Canada. So impressed were we with Calgary Animal Services, we brought the Director, Bill Bruce, to present his program to Chair Wheeler and Commissioner Leonard. Calgary's Animal Service is completely self-funded with gross sales of $5.5 million of pet licenses. Commissioners Wheeler and Leonard saw the promise in this, but it was dismissed by the Task Force Implementation Team as unachievable in Multnomah County. This is wrong.

Barbara and I are more than animal lovers. We are taxpayers and successful business people.

To try and prevent a plan that can potentially save thousands of dogs and cats annually, at no cost to taxpayers, and with no conceivable downside, is more than morally indefensible. It will be unpopular.

Barbara Spears and I have attended all of the task force meetings and 2 of the 4 public workshops. Few would challenge our understanding of the issue. No one can challenge our commitment.

JUNE 2, 2010 Amended

It is a commitment that comes from our basic inability to accept that our public facility euthanizes (kills) over 4000 of our companion animals each year. Every year. 12 each day. Every day. Identified as "THE PROBLEM" on page 1 of the task force Final Report, it states, "Citizens throughout the county have requested a significant reduction in the numbers of animals euthanized".....note: it does not say a percentage extrapolated from some out of date AVMA ratio of animal to human population....it says reduction in NUMBERS. You need to remember that, as it will be the gauge for the success of this budget.

Naturally, one would then expect that this would be a problem subsequently addressed by the taskforce, and indeed it is, where on page 8 of that same Final Report the task force boldly states, " As a practical matter the task force has stopped short of recommending immediate elimination of euthanasia for HEALTHY and treatable/ manageable pets".

This is when you lost us. This is where you lose the community.

If this is not about significantly reducing euthanasia, immediately, then you will lose the public. No one's going to understand this "re-branding registration, incentivized, non-bifurcated, leveraged nonsense, but they will understand that regardless of how much money the taxpayers continue to throw at this, however many hours the volunteers work, no matter what you purport to be otherwise doing, if we can't SIGNIFICANTLY bring the killing NUMBERS down, immediately, and by a lot, then you risk losing more than just public sentiment.

Understand this, the ONLY measure of success for this or any future budget, is if animal control kills significantly fewer animals. This you can market. This you can sell. In the eyes of a compassionate public, this is ALL you have to sell, and the only performance standard that matters.

Oregon Food Bank

Mission: To eliminate hunger and its root causes...because no one should be hungry.

Multnomah County Commission Budget Hearing

Tammy VanderWoude; Public Policy Advocate

503-282-0555 ext 230

tvanderwoude@oregonfoodbank.org

June 2, 2010

Chair Cogen and Commissioners, thank you for the opportunity to testify today. My name is Tammy VanderWoude and I am a Public Policy Advocate with Oregon Food Bank and chair of the Portland Multnomah Food Policy Council.

OFB is the hub of a statewide network of 20 Regional Food Banks and 935 hunger relief agencies in Oregon and Clark County, Washington. There are over 160 food pantries, meal sites and other food programs in Multnomah County alone. Our mission statement is to eliminate hunger and its root causes...because no one should be hungry. The Portland Multnomah Food Policy Council is a citizen-based advisory council to Multnomah County and the City of Portland focused on policy issues related to our local food system.

Today I want to speak about the opportunities we have to address hunger, food security, and community health within the Multnomah County budget.

The following statistics represent the scope of the hunger problem in Portland:

- Oregon Food Bank has seen unprecedented need this past year; distribution of emergency food boxes increased 14 percent statewide. An average 240,000 people eat from an emergency food box each month.
- In Multnomah County, more than 120,000 people utilize the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP), formerly the Food Stamp Program, and
- Nearly 13,000 households were served by the Women, Infants and Children's (WIC) supplemental nutrition program.

As many of you have heard us say, hunger is an income issue. People come to our food pantries because they are forced to make tough choices between buying food for their families and seeing the doctor, paying for child care, or juggling housing costs with a stagnant or dwindling income. In addition, hunger is a systems issue. The food system needs to be accessible and affordable to all residents with opportunities to purchase and grow for household needs. As you work to shape the county's budget, Oregon Food Bank urges you to find the balance of serving the most vulnerable in the community, while at the same time continue planning for the future to help build a Portland where hunger doesn't exist.

I want to thank you for Multnomah County leadership in breaking ground to improve food security through food system work, from Chair Cogen's leadership with the County CROPS program near Troutdale that turned surplus land into more than 12,000 pounds of fresh produce for food-insecure east-Multnomah County residents, the rooftop Hope Garden on this building's 5th floor providing thousands of pounds of produce to low-income seniors in downtown Portland, to Commissioner Shiprack's leadership in organizing a successful community engagement process, the Multnomah Food Initiative, to plan for our food system, to staffing the food policy council and opening an ear to citizens on how to improve our food system into one that promotes health, sustainability and economic viability.

The opportunity to expand these programs and create new opportunities exists through the development of two food policy coordinator positions, reflected in the Chair's budget.

The mission of Oregon Food Bank is to eliminate hunger and its root causes...because no one should be hungry. Reaching this goal demands that we build a dynamic partnership between the public and private sector. Thank you for your demonstrated leadership in services for the most vulnerable, through the 10-year plan to end homelessness, nutrition and health services, as well as building a healthful food system.

Thank you for the opportunity to speak today, and I'm happy to respond to any questions.

Multnomah County Commissioners
June 2nd, 2010
Public Hearing
Re: Multnomah County Budget proposal.

Thank you for the opportunity to comment on the proposed budget package. I am here on behalf of the city of Portland's Crime Prevention and Livability programs. We work closely with agencies and community members to problem solve chronic problem areas and locations. Our efforts are framed around the premise that strong communities are safe communities. The district attorney's office and the prosecution of misdemeanor offenses are vital to the continued success of that goal. I'm here today to share our concern regarding the deep cuts proposed to the district attorney's office. The role that is played by misdemeanor district attorney's is part of the foundation for every problem solving effort we engage in. Allowing offenses like shoplifting, disorderly conduct, trespassing and graffiti go unpunished sends the message that that behavior is tolerated, and will lead to the degeneration of our communities. When deviant behavior can be addressed at a low level, we have a greater likelihood of retaining faith within the community.

We understand the need to prioritize prosecuting the most serious of misdemeanors, and I am sure that this proposal was not made lightly. However, if we can no longer address low level issues through the just prosecution of offenders, we face allowing problem areas and individuals to become full fledged threats to public safety; with no recourse available. Waiting until the harm to victims and society reached a determined threshold cannot be acceptable.

We have not had an opportunity to review the full budget, so we cannot make any recommendations for alternative saving strategies, but we hope that a revision can be made that would not so deeply cut the Multnomah District attorney's office. The City of Portland is facing shortfalls in the budget as well, and we recognize that the counties budget is being affected by the recession at an even greater level, but we are concerned that the proposal to reduce prosecutions of misdemeanors by 62% will result in the rapid decline of the quality of life in Multnomah County.

Thank you for allowing us to comment.

RE: Proposed budget changes

First as a concerned resident and then later as a member of the Board of Lloyd District Community Association, I have attended for nearly five years the monthly Lloyd Public Safety meetings. It has been reassuring and impressive to see the consistent efforts being made to coordinate the approach of Portland Police Bureau, the Deputy District Attorney, and the local commercial, Federal, and State security agencies in dealing with matters relating to public safety in the Lloyd District. The city of Portland, TriMet, and the Portland Public Schools have also been involved in these meetings.

The trespass citation has been one of the most successful tools being used to discourage unwanted and occasionally dangerous behavior whether it be on the part of gang members, homeless persons, or others.

For nine years my husband and I have lived in a retirement community with nearly 300 other senior citizens. Several years ago we became concerned about the number of homeless individuals who were gathering on our outside stairs and sleeping under them. At my suggestion our building administrator talked with the Deputy District Attorney and learned about using a trespass citation to discourage such gatherings. Almost immediately the problem was solved and now when an occasional person trespasses, the building employees can encourage this person to leave and can explain the consequences of his or her refusal to so do. This has greatly increased the safety of our immediate neighborhood for our residents.

It is, therefore, with much fear and trepidation that I learned that the District Attorney's office is planning to no longer enforce trespass citations because of budget factors. I would like to suggest that this decision be reconsidered. The overall crime statistics in the Lloyd District have continued to decline over the past several years, mainly, I believe, because of the successful use of the trespass citation. At the moment our residents are comfortable walking in our immediate neighborhood. If this powerful enforcement tool is removed, I suspect that we may no longer find this a safe district in which to live.

Early Childhood Services

Anna K. Stiefvater, RN, MPH

June 2, 2010

Chair Cogen and Members of the Commission:

Thank you for the opportunity to testify and discuss the importance of nurse home visitation programs in our community. My name is Anna Stiefvater. I have been a community health nurse in Early Childhood Services at the Health Department for four years. In that role I visit parents-to-be--many of whom are low-income -- in their homes beginning during pregnancy and often continuing until their children reach age three. The families I see are more likely to be in poor health, more likely to have children at risk for poor developmental outcomes, and less likely to have the basic knowledge and resources needed to provide a nurturing and safe environment for young children. The children in these families are at great risk of suffering health, education, and economic disparities.

During my home visits, I work to develop a trusting relationship with families in order to offer guidance and support for overcoming the emotional, social, and physical challenges they face. I provide ongoing education, social support, and linkages with other community services. I celebrate the small successes I see parents make: a pregnant woman who quits smoking during pregnancy; a new mom breastfeeding her baby rather than using formula; a teen mom returning to school. I feel proud to be a part of a program that works to improve the health, educational, and economic outcomes for families and strengthens our community by helping them break the cycle of poverty.

Research has shown that programs such as ours--evidence-based, voluntary nurse home visitation programs--lead to:

- o improved prenatal health;
- o fewer childhood injuries;
- o fewer subsequent pregnancies;
- o increased intervals between births;
- o increased maternal employment; and
- o improved school readiness.<sup>1</sup>

Home visitation is an effective, research-based, and cost-efficient way to ensure that all children have the opportunity to grow up healthy, safe, ready to learn, and able to become productive members of society. Evidence shows that a major portion of the cost for home visitation can be offset by reduced foster care placements, hospitalizations, emergency room visits, and child protective service worker time incurred during the same period that home visitations are provided. Cost savings also come from reduction in welfare payments and food stamps as well as unintended subsequent pregnancies.<sup>2</sup>

My work as an Early Childhood Services Community Health Nurse allows me to offer support to and empower pregnant women and their families to improve their health and education and economic self-sufficiency. I urge you to consider the community need that Early Childhood Services meets and not cut positions from the program. Thank you for your time and consideration.

Testimony presented at the June 2nd, 2010 Multnomah County Budget Hearing

Good Evening Chair Cogen and Commissioners.

I am Shelley Bedell, Community Health Nurse in the maternal and child health program of Early Childhood Services. I work with our community's high-risk pregnant and parenting population as a home-based nurse charged with assessing, advocating, and teaching this vulnerable group of challenging and challenged families with securing the health and welfare for themselves and their children. I have worked as a CHN with Multnomah County Health Department since 1999. And, I now add, I am a storyteller.

For a couple minutes I would like you to imagine being my student nurse who is joining me for a day of home visiting. As a preceptor I will provide an overview of what I do.

I am the eyes for the following people: my clients' prenatal and pediatric and family practice providers; my client's pharmacist; my client's mental health provider; my client's social services caseworker; my client's community service support such as WIC, El Programa Hispano, Asian Family Service, IRCO, Africa House, Oregon Food Bank, Early Intervention, Head Start. My nursing colleagues will attest that the actual list is far, far longer.

We begin our visit with assessing the environmental health and safety of the neighborhood, the apartment or house or trailer. We may also visit a homeless shelter or residential treatment center. At this first visit we note the relative safety of the newborn and his first-time teen mother in a home they share with a half-dozen other family members. We will weigh and measure that newborn and report concerns to parent and provider. Did I say we're working with an interpreter? (I work with three Burmese language interpreters, as well as interpreters who speak Arabic, Amharic, Kirundi, Trukese, and American Sign Language. I recently passed my Spanish language exam and use that language weekly with my bi-lingual/bi-cultural clients.)

We continue to assess this new mom's physical and emotional health, complete a post-partum depression screening, intervene with breastfeeding challenges, contact both her lactation consultant and prenatal clinician, and patiently guide her through the obstacles of the paperwork required to register a birth. Do they have enough food? Are the initial newborn and post-partum clinic visits set up? Is this mother's c-section after-care needs stable? Because of her vulnerability as a first-time parent, we arrange for another home visit (likely another hour+) in a week with a telephone consult in a couple days.

At another home we're evaluating the growth and development of a failure to thrive baby, assessing the parent's knowledge and follow-through with nutrition consults and tests, and arranging transportation to the clinics. This baby also demonstrates some gross motor delays and we show mom some safe floor-time play activities.

In yet another home, we are counseling a mom who is struggling to maintain her sobriety in the face of child protective services stepping in again to monitor the health and welfare of her toddler. We're checking medication compliance and collaborating with parenting support from the Early Head Start program.

These families live among us, many having arrived as refugees without sufficient English language or cultural competency to understand the complexity of our health care system. When our clinic and social service personnel cannot be present, we home visiting CHNs are on site to provide a crucial service as the eyes to see and assess the vital health needs of a sometimes bewildered parent. I and my ECS nursing colleagues daily face the illuminating job of negotiating the most optimal care our clients (moms and their babies and their families) should receive from our health care and social safety net programs.

In closing, you and I return to an office for case management calls and paperwork completion. During your day with me we may have met a caseworker, attended an appointment with a client, or joined a family support hearing at a DHS office.

Chair Cogen and Commissioners, these three families and the hundreds and hundreds of families my colleagues and I meet were referred to my ECS program because of their health risks due to age, medical condition, environmental harm, poverty, illiteracy, history of making poor choices. When my job closes on June 30th I will have advocated that these three cases will be carried by another CHN. However, I know full well at this moment that my colleagues who remain on July 1 already carry full case loads. What will be the outcome for my teen mom, the off-the-growth chart baby, and the struggling substance abuser and her toddler? I hope my program is fully funded to continue the valuable support that each of these families needs and importantly the valuable support we in Multnomah County gain from the work I and my nursing colleagues provide.

I appreciate your attention given this community health program that we registered nurses have been professionally trained to carry out. Our jobs as community health nurses are essential to fund at this present time and into the future as assurance to the greater community that all families have equal access to health care and essential social service support. As a former Peace Corps Volunteer I value the civic mission to serve others who with guidance and opportunity will have healthy lives experienced with dignity and respect.

Thank you for this opportunity to speak to you this evening.

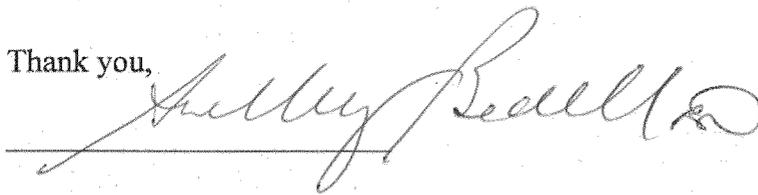

Dear County Commissioners,

Multnomah County nurses provide excellent care to many of your most needy constituents. Recent budget proposals include significant cuts to Community Health Nurses in the Early Childhood Services Program. These cuts will reduce the County's ability to provide critical services to expectant and new mothers that may not have access to healthcare outside of the County services they receive.

I am especially concerned that decreasing revenue-generating Community Health Nurses and increasing Nursing Supervisors will hinder the County's ability to provide services to those most in need – now and into the future.

Please consider restoring Community Health Nurse positions to the Early Childhood Services Program to ensure that all County constituents are afforded the professional healthcare they deserve.

Thank you,

I have a direct impact and influence on the healthy growth and development of my non-English speaking clients, as well as advocating for the independent growth needs of young, first time parents.

Recent budget proposals include significant cuts to Community Health Nurses in the Early Childhood Services Program. These cuts will reduce the County's ability to provide critical services to expectant and new mothers that may not have access to healthcare outside of the County services they receive.

I am especially concerned that decreasing revenue-generating Community Health Nurses and increasing Nursing Supervisors will hinder the County's ability to provide services to those most in need – now and into the future.

Please consider restoring Community Health Nurse positions to the Early Childhood Services Program to ensure that all County constituents are afforded the professional healthcare they deserve.
