General Information

1. What action are you requesting from the Board?

Authorize the Director of the Health Department to submit a grant proposal for up to $15,000 to the Siletz Tribal Charitable Contribution Fund

2. Please provide sufficient background information for the Board and the public to understand this issue. Please note which Program Offer this action affects and how it impacts the results.

In the fall of 2011, the Health Department submitted a successful application to become a member of a new national Practice Collaborative called CityMatCH. The Collaborative is sponsored by the CDC's National Center on Birth Defects and Developmental Disabilities, and has the aim to reduce the number of pregnancies that are exposed to alcohol and other substances within U.S. urban areas. As part of its participation in the national Collaborative, Health Department staff attended a three-day training, continue to receive technical assistance, and have convened a local CityMatCH Practice Collaborative. (The only funding provided by the CDC/national CityMatCH to members was for covering the costs of travel to the training).

The local Practice Collaborative is focused on addressing substance use before, during, and after pregnancy among women age 15-24 in Native communities. In addition to the Health Department, the local Collaborative consists of 18 members from local and state agencies, community based organizations, and local Native communities.

To date, the Practice Collaborative has been focusing on building trust with local Native communities through planning and coordinating with agencies and community members. By November 2012, the local Collaborative will conduct community forums and surveys to learn more about substance use and pregnancy in local Native communities; analyze and interpret learnings; produce a report on learnings; develop an action plan to implement an intervention in 2013; and disseminate the report and action plan. In 2013, the Collaborative will guide the implementation of an action plan that includes a training module and tool kit that is culturally relevant and can be used by both medical and social service providers. The developed materials will include tools and key messages to screen for substance use, convey preconception health and family planning messages, and refer women to appropriate medical and support services.

The requested funds from Siletz Tribal Charitable Contribution Fund will enhance these planned activities by enabling the Practice Collaborative to better connect with and engage local Native communities in the project. The ultimate goal of the Siletz project is to enable the Collaborative to create a sense of ownership and empowerment in local Native communities to help break down historical barriers and reduce the impact of substance use on pregnancies. The Siletz project will enable the Collaborative to cover costs associated with community forums (child care for participants, food, public transit costs, incentives for attending, etc.) and honorariums (travel stipends and honorary gifts) for elders and natural helpers (peers and other community members). Elders and natural helpers will help recruit members of Native communities to participate in project surveys and keep Native community members engaged in the project throughout its various stages by sharing and receiving feedback on reports and action plans. Their addition to the Collaborative entrench project activities and learnings in local Native communities, leading to the long-term sustainability and the successful implementation of the action plan in 2013.

3. Explain the fiscal impact (current year and ongoing).

This grant will provide the Health Department with up to $15,000 to provide honorariums to elders and natural helpers and cover focus group costs to ensure that Native communities are fully engaged in the project. All funds will be used by November 2012; there is no ongoing fiscal impact.

4. Explain any legal and/or policy issues involved.

None.

5. Explain any citizen and/or other government participation that has or will take place.

In addition to the Health Department, the local CityMatCH Collaborative, which is in full agreement to the project scope, consists of the following government agencies, universities, and community-based organizations: Native American Rehabilitation Association (NARA); Native American Youth Family Center (NAYA); NW Portland Area Indian Health Board; Multnomah County Department of Human Services; Portland State University; and Oregon Health Authority, Office of Family Planning. In addition, the Collaborative has three members from Native communities.
