2012 Multnomah Food Summit

"Growing Food Justice: Cultivating a Shared and Broad Understanding"

TriMet.org
Driving Directions

The theme of the 2012 Multnomah Food Summit is "Growing Food Justice" to cultivate a shared and broad understanding of how we are all affected by and can transform an unjust food system that contributes to chronic health conditions, hunger and food insecurity, climate change and environmental degradation, and economic injustice in our community.

Please join us to share locally implemented solutions, experiences, and the work ahead that broaden our understanding of food justice beyond the common definition of food security and access. Our goal is to view every action pillar of the Multnomah Food Action Plan - Local Food, Healthy Eating, Social Equity, & Economic Vitality - as part of the scope of food justice.

When:*Friday June 15, 2012*9:00 AM to 4:00 PM PDT*Add to my calendar

Keynote Address

A native of Portland, Pastor Hardy has been senior Pastor at Highland United Church of Christ since 1996. He is a locally and nationally recognized public health champion, working to reduce health disparities in the African and African American communities. Under his leadership, a coalition of 35 urban multi-faith leaders have come together to stem rising rates of chronic disease and obesity. The coalition recently adopted food and wellness policies, impacting over 60,000 community members. He has received numerous awards for his varied contributions including; the 2004 NAACP Man of the Year Award, and the lifetime Achievement Award from the World Arts Foundation, a Portland-based organization whose mission is to promote and preserve African-American contributions to American culture.
