- a. Diane Linn, Chair
- b. Lisa Naito
- c. Maria Rojo de Steffey
- d. Lonnie Roberts

This is the time set for hearing on the electors' petition to form a "Multnomah County People's Utility District." It is the Board's duty under ORS 261.161 to hold a hearing to determine the boundaries for the proposed district.

Within 10 days of the close of the hearing, the Board will determine the boundaries of the district.

2. This is a quasi-judicial proceeding. All parties are entitled to an impartial hearings board. This is the time for Board members to declare any of the following:

- a. Potential or actual conflicts of interest
- b. Prejudgment or bias in this matter
- c. Ex parte contacts with Board members regarding this matter

Does any Board member wish to make any disclosures described above?

Does anyone at this hearing wish to challenge any member of the Board on any of these grounds?

Does anyone at this hearing wish to challenge this hearing on any procedural ground?

II. Hearing Record

This hearing will be recorded, and all written comments or testimony received will be added to the record and considered by the Board in making its decision. The April 18, 2003 report prepared by the Oregon Office of Energy, as well as written testimony submitted to it, is already in the record. In addition, the record contains any written comment received by the Board or Board staff prior to the beginning of this hearing regarding the hearing.

III Order of Presentation

The hearing will proceed this morning in the following manner:

1. Petitioners will have a total of 30 minutes to make a presentation, including reserved rebuttal time, if requested. (At the end of the presentation, and any Board questions, the Clerk will provide time remaining for rebuttal, if requested).
2. Next, the two electrical companies serving the area, Portland General Electric (PGE) and PacifiCorp, will have 30 minutes to make a presentation.
3. These presentations will be followed by Petitioners' Rebuttal, if time has been reserved.
4. Other jurisdictions located within Multnomah County will have five minutes each to present testimony.
5. If time permits, other members of the public who have requested time to comment may speak. Any member of the public wishing to speak should complete a sign-up sheet located on the table by the door and submit it to the Board Clerk.

Public comment will be limited to 3 minutes per person. To be fair, we will be sticking to this time limit. The right to speak is an individual right and cannot be "given to" or "shared with" any other speaker.

This hearing will be continued to this evening at 6 pm to permit additional public testimony. Further hearing times are scheduled for May 29th at 10:30 am and for June 2nd and June 10th at 6 pm. IV. Testimony. Speakers should present testimony as follows:

1. State your name clearly for the record.
2. State your position as clearly and succinctly as possible.
3. Public testimony will be limited to three minutes.

Members of the public are invited to submit their testimony in writing.

During the hearing, we ask those in the audience to refrain from demonstrations in support or opposition to the hearing. We also ask that Board members, when possible, hold their questions until the end of the individual's testimony.

(See attached list of invited speakers)

Statement of the Sacramento Municipal Utility District

Multnomah County, Oregon
Board of Commissioners Meeting
May 15, 2003

- Good morning Commissioners. Thank you for the opportunity to address your Commission and provide testimony concerning the formation of a public power utility in Multnomah County.
- I'm Rosanna Herber from the Sacramento Municipal Utility District (SMUD). SMUD is one of the 2,000 not-for-profit publicly owned electric utilities throughout the United States that belong to the American Public Power Association (APPA). APPA is the national service organization that represents these publicly owned utilities.
- SMUD is the nation's sixth largest community-owned electric utility in terms of customers served. We serve approximately 500,000 customers in a 900-mile service territory and employ over 2,000 full time employees.
- Both APPA and SMUD were contacted by the Oregon Public Power Coalition and asked to provide the Commission with some concrete facts about public power and specific examples of the types of programs that SMUD has developed in response to its citizens' requests.
- APPA asked that I submit its testimony to the Commission for the record. I'd like to include parts of APPA's testimony in my comments and provide specific examples from SMUD that demonstrate how a utility owned by the public can offer unique programs that reflect the values of its local community.
- I want to state upfront that APPA and SMUD are not endorsing any specific public power proposal being considered by the citizens in Portland or the citizens in the six counties this PUD proposal would serve. Rather, both APPA and SMUD think the voters should decide what is best for their communities. However, we strongly believe in the benefits of public power and think Oregon citizens have a historic opportunity to determine how electricity will be provided to them in the future.
- The three main benefits that public power can bring to a community are local control, lower rates and programs that reflect community values.
- Local control is about citizens having a direct voice in utility decisions on policies about electric rates and the services and programs offered to the community by the public utility.

- Local control is about citizens being able to go to public meetings to express their ideas when important policies are being considered and having the right to take action via elections or the ballot box when the public utility isn't being run the way a community wants it to operate.
- SMUD is an example of a public utility whose decisions are impacted by its citizens. Our SMUD Board and General Manager hold public Board meetings and community meetings to get citizen input when important energy policies are being considered.
- In 1989, our citizens asked the SMUD Board to close the Rancho Seco nuclear facility. The SMUD Board was reluctant to take that action because of investments made to upgrade the plant. A grassroots organization put a measure on the ballot to close the plant and it passed. The community had spoken. The plant was decommissioned. With public power, the citizens have control through the ballot box even when an elected Board doesn't take the action a community wants.
- Public power also brings the potential for lower rates. On average, public power utilities have built a historical record of providing electricity at lower rates than investor-owned utilities. In 2001, the most recent year for which comparable federal data is available, the investor-owned utilities' residential customers paid average rates that were 20 percent above those paid by customers of publicly owned systems.
- Public power exists for a purpose, not a profit. That purpose is to provide reliable, efficient service to its local customers at the lowest possible cost and to implement programs its customers want. Investor owned utilities exist to operate in a manner that provides a profit for its investors. There is nothing wrong with making a profit, but when it comes to the bottom line, who do you think will be looking out for your communities' best interests?
- Even after the energy crisis in California, SMUD's rates are 20% lower than Pacific Gas and Electric, the closest investor owned utility. California's public utilities are in much better financial condition than investor owned utilities. This is largely due to local control. Since the California Public Utilities Commission does not govern public utilities, they are able to set their own rates and energy policies, build their own generating capacity or enter into long-term energy contracts. This ability to have local control gave communities with public power the tools to navigate through the unpredictable energy market.
- But what about the costs to acquire the system? A new public utility may not be able to offer lower rates immediately, but where do you think the market will be in the next 10 years? Who do you think will best serve your citizens in the future... a company that must first consider making a profit for its shareholders or a public utility that will use excess margin to lower rates and improve decision-making by taking local concerns into account?

- The third benefit to public power is the ability for citizens to shape the programs and energy policies that reflect a community's values. SMUD is a public utility that has listened to the wants of its community and developed programs to meet those needs.
- In 1994, Sacramento was struggling with two base closures that eliminated thousands of jobs and another base closure was on its way. Our customers wanted a program to help bring new businesses to our community. SMUD established an Economic Development program that provided incentive rates for businesses to locate in our service territory. Last year, SMUD helped bring 6 new companies and created 1,045 new jobs. Since the program began, SMUD has assisted in recruiting 54 new companies and a total of 24,000 jobs to our region.
- SMUD's residential and business customers asked for programs to help them reduce energy usage. SMUD has developed award winning energy efficiency programs to meet those needs. Customers can receive home and business energy audits, rebates for energy efficient electric appliances and HVAC and lighting equipment, free shade trees, internet programs to help customers track energy usage, loans for high performance windows, shade screens and attic and wall insulation, indoor and outdoor lighting, diagnostic services and a whole host of other programs.
- In 2002 alone, SMUD saved over 21 megawatts of energy capacity and 67 gigawatt hours of energy through our Residential and Commercial Services programs. We paid over 9 million in rebates to our customers and saved 21,000 lbs of NOx from polluting the air. That equates to taking approximately 12,000 vehicles off the road. In partnership with our customers, SMUD has created 240MW of energy efficiency savings over the last 10 years. That's the equivalent of a power plant.
- SMUD is also known for its innovative programs dealing with solar energy, electric vehicles and Greenergy. SMUD has the largest grid connected PV program in America. We have installed over 500 solar rooftop systems on residential homes, commercial businesses and churches. SMUD continues to look for ways to clean the air by promoting the development and use of electric vehicles, electric forklifts and electric ground service equipment for airports. SMUD also offers a program where customers can pay a little extra to buy "green energy" to serve their loads. To date, over 15,000 SMUD customers purchase "green energy" in the Greenergy program.
- All of these programs reflect the community values of our customers. Not only do SMUD's customers want, reliable, low cost power, they also want programs that conserve resources, clean the air and promote responsible environmental practices.
- In summary, SMUD is a public power utility that is a citizen-owned, locally controlled, not-for-profit institution where economic benefits are retained at home and service to customers is the sole motivation for the programs and policies that reflect its community values.
- I would be happy to answer any questions you may have.

Statement of the American Public Power Association

Multnomah County, Oregon
Board of Commissioners Meeting

May 15, 2003

The American Public Power Association (APPA) appreciates the opportunity to submit a statement concerning the formation of a public power utility in Multnomah County. APPA supports the efforts of local citizens to evaluate the public power option for their community. Interest in forming community-owned electric utilities is greater now than it has been in decades. Community leaders across the country are considering public ownership as a way to achieve local control and greater stability for their citizens in the price, reliability and responsiveness of electric service.

APPA is the national service organization representing the interests of over 2,000 not-for-profit, publicly owned electric utilities throughout the United States. APPA member utilities serve some of the nation's largest cities, such as Los Angeles, Sacramento, Seattle, Jacksonville, San Antonio, Memphis and Orlando. The majority of public power systems are located in small- and medium-sized communities in every state except Hawaii. Public power provides for the electric power needs of more than 40 million Americans, approximately 15 percent of electricity consumers.

Public power utilities' first and only purpose is to provide reliable, efficient service to their local customers at the lowest possible cost. Public power exists for a purpose, not a profit. Like hospitals, public schools, police and fire departments, publicly owned water and waste water systems, public power utilities are locally created governmental institutions that address a basic community need. In public power communities the electric utility belongs to the people it serves, and economic benefits are retained locally.

Distinct Characteristics of Public Power

Public ownership of electric utility service is not a revolutionary or radical idea. In fact, public power is as old as the U.S. electric power industry itself. Public power today has the same special mark of distinction that it had in the past: the desire and action by local citizens to have direct control over the provision of electric power that so influences their lives.

Public power systems are different from privately owned utilities in ways that are crucially important to consumers:

- Public power systems are not-for-profit institutions that belong to the citizens of communities in which they serve; the customers and owners are one and the same.
- Public power utilities work in partnership with their citizens and communities. Citizens have a direct voice in utility decisions and policies about electric rates and services, generating fuels, clean air and water and other issues that affect them, through public meetings, the ballot box and open policy board meetings.

- On average, public power utilities have built an historical record of lower rates than investor-owned utilities. In 2001, the most recent year for which comparable federal data is available, the investor-owned utilities' residential customers paid average rates that were 20 percent above those paid by customers of publicly owned systems.
- Public power utilities, on average, return to state and local governments in-lieu-of-tax payments and other contributions that are equivalent to or exceed state and local taxes paid by investor-owned utilities.
- Public power utilities are service-oriented and responsive to customers' needs and concerns. They provide the power reliability, power quality, safety and efficiency that come from being singly focused on local power operations.
- Public power's lower electric rates are a magnet for community economic development. Public power utilities can provide streamlined "one-stop shop" customer service that encourages existing business customers to maintain and expand their operations, and attracts new businesses. Lower electric rates also hold down consumer costs, stimulating the local economy.
- Public power utility management provides for leadership in innovation, community technology development and environmental stewardship.

What is distinctive about public power may be summed up in the phrase: community accountability.

Public power utilities are citizen-owned, locally controlled, not-for-profit institutions where economic benefits are retained at home and service to customers is the sole motivation for policies and personnel.

New Public Power Utilities Continue to be Established

APPA collects data on public power utilities, including the number of systems formed from or sold to investor-owned utilities. During the past 20 years, 46 new publicly owned electric utilities began operating, 27 of them in communities formerly served by investor-owned utilities.

The largest of the new public power utilities, the Long Island Power Authority (LIPA) in New York, displaced an investor-owned utility five years ago. Today LIPA provides electric service to about 1.1 million customers in Nassau and Suffolk counties in New York. In May, 1998, LIPA reduced electric rates by an average of 20 percent after it purchased the investor-owned utility's transmission and distribution system. Since that rate reduction LIPA's electricity consumers have saved nearly $2.5 billion. In addition,

LIPA has improved the system's safety and reliability program. It is in the process of adding some 400 megawatts of on-island generation.

LIPA's relationship with its business and industrial customers is a priority for the utility, and it takes an active role in business and civic organizations. LIPA provides qualified businesses with the opportunity to obtain rate incentive and energy efficiency audits. More than 300 companies have taken advantage of LIPA's economic development program, creating or retaining nearly 50,000 jobs.

One of the newest public power utilities is Hermiston (Oregon) Energy Services. Now that the utility is city-owned, the average residential rate is 3 to 9 percent lower than the rate Hermiston residents paid under Pacific Power. But customer service, rather than lower rates, was the primary reason for forming a city-owned utility. For example, City Hall serves as a service center for Hermiston Energy Services, allowing customers to pay bills and address service concerns in person.

Benefits of Public Power's National Network

The public power community is large and diverse, but committed to the sharing of information, experiences, best practices, and lessons learned. APPA holds an annual conference for its members and offers workshops and education courses on many areas of utility operations throughout the year. More than 3,000 public power professionals participate in APPA workshops and electronic discussion groups on subjects such as engineering and operations, purchasing, finance, pricing, customer service, and public communications.

APPA provides a wide variety of services to public power, including the collection, analysis and dissemination of information through a variety of periodicals, publications and its Web site, www.APPAnet.org. Most important is the network of members themselves that underlies APPA's information efforts. These members participate in APPA's workshops and subject committees and provide direct assistance to each other in ways as diverse as mutual aid operations and best practices advice.

Public Power: An Investment in the Future

The first municipal electric utility was established in 1882. By the beginning of the 20th Century four of today's largest public power utilities – in Anaheim, Jacksonville, Tacoma and Austin – were up and running. By the end of the year 2005, about 500 public power utilities will have celebrated their centennials.

As valuable an asset as a public power utility has been in the 20th century, conditions look right for a public power utility to be even more valuable to its community and citizens in the 21st century. The value of public power's hometown advantages – low rates, commitment to local communities, not-for-profit operations, public accountability, local decision making and a customer service ethic – have become readily apparent as the electric utility industry restructures today. Public power has remained true to its fundamental obligation to its citizen-owners – the obligation to serve.

Report links PGE to scheme

The utility disputes regulators' claim that it helped Enron devise a deceptive trading strategy during the 2000-01 energy crisis

By GAIL KINSEY HILL
THE OREGONIAN

Portland General Electric helped Enron Power Marketing develop a scheme to manipulate California's electricity grid during the 2000-01 energy crisis, according to the staff of the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission.

The trading scheme, nicknamed "Death Star" by Enron traders, allowed the Houston-based Enron to receive payments from California for relieving congestion on the state's transmission lines even though no electricity actually flowed on the system.

The staff report, obtained Friday by The Oregonian, claims that the arrangements between PGE and Enron Power Marketing violated codes of conduct outlined in federal regulatory tariffs. The transactions also undermined the federal energy commission's ability to ensure just and reasonable wholesale power prices, the staff said.

PGE, a subsidiary of Enron and Oregon's largest utility, emphatically objected to the way the report characterized the trades. The assertions are "just the first step in the trial process" aimed at investigating energy markets during the power crisis, said Jay Dudley, PGE's associate general counsel.

The staff report, which lays out assertions from a three-month investigation, will help provide the basis for a hearing before the full federal commission.

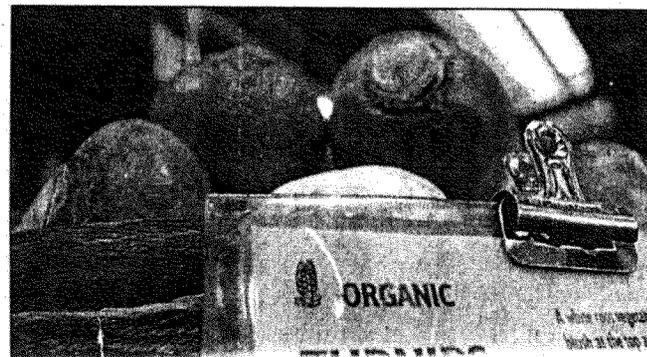

"We resolutely disagree with the FERC trial staff's assertions and with their characterization of PGE's actions," PGE Chief Executive Peggy Fowler said in a statement. "In all the information we have provided to FERC, we found no evidence of intentional wrongdoing on PGE's part."

Earlier this year, PGE submitted to federal regulators a detailed report of trades conducted with Enron in which it admitted it may unwittingly have helped complete "Death Star" transactions on 15 to 17 days beginning in April 2000. It also admitted that it failed to correctly account for many of its transactions

PGE ENGAGED IN LARGEST TAX AVOIDANCE SCHEME IN OREGON HISTORY.

In 1997, Enron bought up and took over PGE, with the approval of the Oregon Public Utility Commission (OPUC). I testified at the OPUC against the takeover:

"The purchase would harm PGE ratepayers and impair the development of competitive markets in power supply and energy conservation. . . . Protecting Oregon ratepayers from complicated shell games will be an entirely new and more difficult task for the PUC."

I fought the takeover in the Oregon courts for 3 years but lost (December 2000).

One element of Enron's "shell games" was avoidance of income taxes. PGE became part of Enron's "consolidated tax group" for filing of all federal, state, and local corporate income taxes. During the years 1997-2001, PGE included in its electric rates a line item for "federal income taxes" of $71.4 million and a line item of $14.7 million for "state income taxes." PGE then collected these amounts from us, the Oregon ratepayers, for a total of $286 million for federal income taxes and $74 million for state income taxes for those 5 years.

But then PGE never paid these taxes. Instead, PGE just sent to money to Enron, which had created over 800 subsidiary corporations in the Cayman Islands and other offshore tax havens in order to defraud the governments of tax payments. Enron documents show that Enron considered its tax department as a "profit center" and required the use of tax avoidance schemes which have been found fraudulent in subsequent investigations by the U.S. Senate Finance Committee and by special examiners in the Enron bankruptcy case.

In the year 2002, PGE was "de-consolidated" from Enron. PGE in 2002 collected from Oregon ratepayers $77 million to pay its federal income taxes and $15.6 million to pay its state income taxes, for a total of $92.6 million out of our pockets. But PGE actually paid only $10 in state income taxes and $211,000 in federal income taxes. PGE kept 99.8% of the money for itself!

PGE is now re-consolidated with Enron for 2003 taxes. That means that the $92.6 million PGE is collecting right now from Oregon ratepayers will never be paid to any government. Enron has stated in its reports to the SEC that it has such huge losses that it will not be paying any income taxes in any year. Thus, the scam is continuing right now and is costing us $1.8 million per week! As of the end of 2003, we will have paid to PGE over $440 million for "federal income taxes" and $105 million for "state income taxes," when in fact none of that money will go to the governments, except the $10 and $211,000 that went there in 2002. In my opinion, this is the biggest tax fraud in Oregon history.

I have filed complaints and petitions for investigation at the OPUC, but the Commissioners have done absolutely nothing, except spread false information about the "taxes" that PGE has "paid." The PUC refused to even ask PGE to disclose how much money it has paid in state and local income taxes since it was taken over by Enron. It appears from my examination of the records that the federal and state governments have actually paid millions of dollars to PGE in the form of tax credits, even though PGE had paid essentially nothing in federal income taxes since 1995.

PGE claims it has "paid" its taxes merely by paying some of the money to Enron, which in turn merely kept the money. The universal dictionary definition of "tax" is money assessed by and paid to the government. It does not include money paid to and kept by other corporations.

This is not just a corporation avoiding its fair share of taxes. It is a state-granted monopoly corporation collecting "income tax" money from Oregon ratepayer under fraudulent premises and then keeping the money--more than enough to pay PGE's enormous bonuses for the executives. PGE president Peggy Fowler was paid $979,000 in 2002, with a phalanx of other officers being paid over $500,000 each.

Provide stable, local control:

- Locally owned and controlled: board of directors directly elected by voters
- Stable power supply: Cannot be sold at the whim of a private corporation
- Independent of the Oregon Public Utility Commission, which approved the sale of PGE to Enron and then OK'd the largest rate hike in Oregon history

Good for Labor:

- Must honor existing union contracts of PGE's workers
- No over-priced executives draining money from workers
- No absentee ownership: Local control is invested in employees
- Multiple PUDs = a larger job market No corporate mergers = stable jobs

Lower Costs:

- Will get PGE's assets at the lowest price by using eminent domain: doesn't bid at the Enron bankruptcy auction
- Get wholesale power at low rates unavailable to private utilities
- More money stays at home: doesn't pay Federal income taxes
- Provide power to citizens, not profits to shareholders: 14% of your PGE bill goes to shareholders!
- No over-priced executives draining money from the ratepayers

Good for the Environment:

- Can make decisions based on best environmental practices, not highest income to shareholders
- Can develop renewable

With a People's Utility District, we can control our energy future.

We will not be subject to absentee owners who put profit before public service!

Enron Corruption: The Oregon Connection

Oregon will suffer more economic loss from Enron's corruption than any other state, largely because in 1997 Enron bought Oregon's largest electric utility, Portland General Electric Co., which it still owns.

Oregon was first with a bottle recycling bill and first with public access to beaches. And now Oregon is definitely in first place when it comes to being swindled by Enron.

Oregon is # 1 per capita in:

1. Political campaign contributions by Enron and its executives since 1997 (mainly through PGE). PGE has contributed money to a majority of the senators and representatives in the Oregon legislature.
2. Dollars lost on Enron stock by the State employee pension fund ($80 million).
3. Dollars lost by employees in their 401k pension plans (over $100 million). Enron executives urged employees to put all of their 401k money into Enron stock, while they were urgently selling off their shares.
4. Electric rate increases imposed by Enron/PGE (over $400 million per year). The Oregon Public Utility Commission allowed Enron/PGE to raise rates by 41% overall, 53% for business customers, in October 2001.
5. Money collected from ratepayers to pay PGE federal taxes was sent to Enron, but never paid to the IRS. ($357 million over past 4 years)
6. Money in the hands of multi-millionaires due to cashing out of Enron stock. PGE's former CEO, Ken Harrison, cashed out his options in 2000 for a cool $75 million! Former PGE treasurer, Joe Hirko, cashed his for a measly $35 million.

IT'S TIME FOR PUBLIC POWER IN OREGON

Instead of transferring PGE to another private company and suffering more rounds of financial manipulations, the Oregon Public Power Coalition is calling for transferring PGE assets to a public power entity.

Consequently, the OPPC is working to create a People's Utility District (PUD) that would own and operate PGE's assets.

Last summer, voters in the PGE service area began collecting signatures to place People's Utility District on the May ballot. One need look no further than McMinnville or Forest Grove to see that publicly-owned utilities have rates far below PGE's. A 1999 study by a consultant to the City of Portland concluded that public ownership of PGE would reduce electricity costs by about 20%.

Oregon Public Power Coalition

Public Power: Good for Business

“These rates, and they are very high rates, are sucking the life out of the local economy.”

Ken Canon, Executive Director, Industrial Customers of Northwest Utilities, on PGE/Enron rates.

Business Suffers In a Volatile Power Market

- Small businesses – without the profit margin to absorb higher rates – get hit first and hardest.
- It's impossible to stay ahead of spiking rates in manipulated markets.
- The volatility that devastated Oregon's economy would not have occurred if PGE had been in the hands of ratepayers instead of in Enron's.
- Electric rates affect the costs of everything we buy, from apples to airplanes.

When business suffers, we all suffer.

Electric Utilities Are Different From Other Businesses

- Utilities are monopolies. They are guaranteed a profit!
- Businesses can't choose a power company.
- Ratepayers acquire utility assets through our rates. When they are sold, we pay for them again! You wouldn't pay for equipment to be used by another company, and then buy it again for twice its value when the first company went belly up and was replaced by another.
- Making PGE public is not stealing private assets. We're just claiming what we've paid for.

People's Utility Districts Protect Business Interests

- A PUD pays the depreciated book value of PGE (just compensation) under eminent domain, not whatever the market will bear. This can save up to several billion dollars.
- A PUD replaces the Public Utility Commission's ineffectual oversight with a board of directors elected by the ratepayers. They'll have our local interests at heart.
- A PUD is run by the excellent front line employees who handle the day-to-day functions of PGE right now. What's missing? The huge money top management has been getting.

PGE workers and the communities in PGE's service area have lost 100s of millions of dollars. This doesn't happen with PUDs.

Public Power Is In All Our Interests

We can protect our businesses and our families far into the future by securing this vital resource.

During the recent nightmare in California, the only ratepayers who did not suffer rolling blackouts were those served by public power. Public power makes sense for business. Privately held power is a gamble – we've already lost at the table once, why would we go there again?

Join us. Let's create public power and bring utility costs under control.

05.15.03 Utilities Invited
3 Speaker PacifiCorp

TESTIMONY OF
GREGORY R. MOWE, STOEL RIVES LLP
BEFORE THE MULTNOMAH COUNTY BOARD OF COMMISSIONERS
May 15, 2003

I am Greg Mowe, a partner in the law firm Stoel Rives LLP. My practice is primarily focused on condemnation litigation. I represent governmental bodies, public utilities, and private property owners. I have represented PacifiCorp in prior condemnation litigation and provide this testimony on behalf of PacifiCorp.

Overview of Testimony

My testimony will cover two aspects of condemnation law: (1) the power to take, and (2) compensation and damages. The general principle of condemnation is that private property may be taken by government for public use upon payment of just compensation. These concepts are complicated in the utility context by the fact that investor-owned utility property is already devoted to public use and subject to public regulation. Thus, a number of limitations on power to condemn utility property have been created by statute and case law. Those limitations will be at issue for any start-up PUD, as assets supporting delivery of electrical service in Multnomah County are part of two integrated systems serving customers elsewhere in Oregon and beyond. The concept of just compensation is also complex for utilities. Just compensation is usually defined as the fair market value of the property taken, plus damages to remaining property. Fair market value of assets in a condemnation case is different from "rate base" of assets in utility regulation. Ratemaking in a regulatory context is based upon original cost of assets. Valuation in a condemnation case is based upon current fair market value, which may be significantly higher than rate base, depending upon type of asset. In addition, severance damages must be paid in a partial taking (a taking of less than the entire utility) to compensate the utility and its remaining customers for reconfiguration costs, stranded assets and damage to the remaining system. Severance damage will likely be a significant obstacle for any start-up PUD in Multnomah County attempting to carve service territory out of two larger integrated systems, with the further potential for fragmentation depending upon consistency of election results in incorporated and unincorporated areas.

Source of Condemnation Authority

PUD condemnation authority derives from Article XI, Section 12 of the Oregon Constitution. Such authority is subject to legislative implementation, however, and PUDs are subject to statutory limitations on the exercise of condemnation authority. Emerald PUD v. PacifiCorp, 100 Or App 79, 83-84, 784 P2d 1112 (1990). Statutory condemnation authority is granted by ORS 261.305, which grants PUDs authority "to exercise the power of eminent domain for the purpose of acquiring any property, within or without the district, necessary for the carrying out of the provisions of this chapter." This general proposition is subject to a number of important limitations.

Territorial Limitations

At the outset, no Oregon PUD can condemn any property located outside the state of Oregon, even if such property is owned by a person or corporation located within the state. Since the state of Oregon itself has no sovereign powers beyond its borders, no other condemnors relying on state authority have such power either. The practical impact is that any property, real or personal, tangible or intangible, located outside Oregon on the date condemnation is filed is not subject to condemnation by an Oregon governmental entity.

Public Necessity Limitations

Under ORS 261.305(5), PUD authority is limited to acquisition of property “necessary” for carrying out the provisions of ORS Chapter 261. Determinations of necessity are subject to court review. ORS Chapter 35, which governs all condemnation proceedings, provides that a condemnation resolution of a governmental body is entitled to a rebuttable presumption that acquisition is necessary and most compatible with the greatest public good and the least private injury. ORS 35.235(2). However, a condemnee may rebut the presumption and defeat a condemnation by demonstrating that the public and private injuries resulting from condemnation are greater than the purported public benefit. This is what happened in Emerald PUD v. PacifiCorp, 100 Or App 79, 784 P2d 1112 (1990), in which the trial court and the Oregon Court of Appeals overturned a PUD finding of “public necessity” where the economic benefit of condemnation of hydroelectric facilities located outside the PUD’s service territory would be exceeded by the economic dislocation caused by condemnation of those facilities.

Public Use Property Limitations

Under the doctrine of Little Nestucca Road Company v. Tillamook County, 31 Or 1, 5, 48 P 465 (1897), “public use” facilities (including utility properties operated by investor-owned utilities) are subject to condemnation only if authorized by statute. The fact that a public agency has general condemnation authority to acquire property necessary for its operations does not in and of itself permit condemnation of property already devoted to public use by other governmental agencies or public utilities. Rather, a statute must provide condemnation power over public use facilities expressly or by necessary implication. Prior Oregon cases have addressed authority of PUDs and municipalities to condemn existing hydroelectric facilities and to condemn existing distribution facilities located within boundaries of the municipality or PUD. No reported Oregon case has addressed statutory authority to condemn existing utility transmission or distribution facilities located outside the boundaries of the municipality or PUD. Similarly, no reported Oregon case has addressed the issue of statutory authority to condemn intangible utility assets (such as contracts or franchises) or tangible assets (such as buildings, vehicles or equipment) not directly utilized in generation or delivery of electricity. The only statutory reference to permitted PUD use of eminent domain to acquire investor owned facilities is ORS 261.327, which refers to acquisition by eminent domain of “facilities for the distribution of energy within an affected territory.” Any attempt to condemn more would likely be challenged.

Interstate Commerce Limitations

To the extent that a startup PUD attempted to condemn PacifiCorp facilities located outside its boundaries or facilities within such boundaries serving a larger geographic area, impacts on interstate commerce would also be implicated. PacifiCorp operates in multiple jurisdictions, and PacifiCorp's resources, including its hydroelectric facilities and thermal facilities, are allocated on a system-wide basis. Thus, Oregon customers share benefits and burdens of thermal facilities located outside Oregon, and customers from other states share benefit and burden of facilities in Oregon. To the extent that a PUD in Multnomah County were to attempt to cherry pick particular low cost resources in Oregon, such an action would not only impact other Oregon customers, but would also interfere with interstate commerce, potentially violating the Commerce Clause of the United States Constitution. See New England Power Company v. New Hampshire, 455 US 331 (1982) (holding that a state cannot prohibit a private power company from exporting locally generated hydroelectric power from federally licensed facilities). See also City of Oakland v. Oakland Raiders, 220 Cal Rptr153 (Cal App 1985) (invalidating attempted condemnation of sports franchise on Commerce Clause grounds).

Thermal Plant Limitations

In addition to the general considerations applicable to PUD condemnations, the Oregon legislature has specifically prohibited PUDs from acquiring thermal power plants, wherever located. ORS 261.250(2) provides: "A district shall not exercise its power of eminent domain to acquire a then-existing thermal power plant or any part thereof."

PUD proponents have claimed that the above statute is an unconstitutional infringement upon PUD authority. However, the issue of legislative authority to impose limitations on PUDs has been previously litigated and legislative power upheld. This precise issue was addressed in the prior Emerald PUD v. PacifiCorp case at 100 Or App 83-84, in which the Oregon Court of Appeals held:

"Plaintiff argues that the constitutional grant of the condemnation power is unconditional and that the legislature may not impose 'substantive' conditions on that authority through implementing legislation that the constitutional provision requires. We disagree. . . . [E]minent domain was comprehensively regulated by statute in Oregon long before Article XI, Section 12, was adopted in 1930. The grant of eminent domain authority in Section 12 is stated in general terms. The legislative implementation clause of the Section clearly envisioned that existing or subsequent legislation relating to the subject would define the details of and limitations on the districts' condemnation authority."

See also People's Utility District, et al. v. Wasco County, et al., 210 Or 1, 305 P2d 766 (1957) (rejecting argument that state taxation of PUD property violated constitution).

Condemnation Procedure and Timing

In order to exercise powers of condemnation, a PUD must follow prescribed steps set out in ORS Chapter 35. These include identification and appraisal of property to be acquired, adoption of a condemnation resolution, and a statutory precondemnation offer which must remain in place at least 40 days before condemnation is filed. In a typical condemnation case, a condemning body is entitled to “immediate possession” of property to be acquired upon payment of a deposit into court. In the case of distribution facilities acquired by a PUD, however, immediate possession is not available, since territorial allocation statutes prohibit service within an allocated service territory until the distribution facilities have been “condemned or otherwise acquired.” ORS 758.470(1). In a condemnation case, title does not transfer upon immediate possession, but only when a final judgment is paid. ORS 35.325. Accordingly, a PUD may not lawfully take possession of distribution facilities until it has paid a final judgment awarded in a jury trial, which will not generally occur until at least a year or two after filing of a condemnation action. This timetable may be further delayed by appeals, particularly if the PUD seeks to acquire facilities located outside its boundaries. For example, the ultimately unsuccessful PUD attempt to condemn dams from PacifiCorp on the North Umpqua River in Douglas County took nearly 10 years from start to finish.

Valuation and Damage

Any public body taking private property for public use is required to pay “just compensation.” Or. Const. Art. I, § 18. The Oregon Supreme Court has defined just compensation as “full remuneration for loss or damage sustained by an owner of condemned property.” Dept. of Trans. v. Lundberg, 312 Or 568, 574, 825 P2d 641 (1992). Just compensation is measured in terms of what the owner has lost, not what the condemnor has gained. State Highway Comm v. Hooper, 259 Or 555, 560, 488 P2d 421 (1971). Just compensation has two primary elements: (1) fair market value of the property taken, and (2) severance damages for diminution in value of remaining property. Hwy. Comm v. Superbilt Mfg., 204 Or 393, 412, 281 P2d 707 (1955). Fair market value is defined as “the amount of money the property would bring if it were offered for sale by one who desired, but who was not obliged, to sell and was purchased by one who was willing but not obliged, to buy.” Lundberg, 312 Or at 574. Fair market value is different from “rate base” for regulatory purposes. Thus, even if low cost generation assets or favorable purchase contracts were subject to condemnation, their condemnation value would be based on current market, not historical cost.

Condemned property is valued based on its highest and best use, which is the most profitable use of the property. Physical assets of an operating utility system are valued as part of the going concern. Rose City Transit v. City of Portland, 18 Or App 369, 392, 525 P2d 1325 (1974). Appraisers use three recognized methods in valuing property in condemnation: (1) the sales comparison approach, sometimes referred to as the market approach; (2) the cost approach; and (3) the income approach. 7 Nichols on Eminent Domain § 4.04[3] (2001). In the sales comparison approach, market value is estimated by comparing the subject property to similar properties that have sold recently. The appraiser compares differences between the comparable properties and the subject property and makes adjustments for such differences. The cost approach is based upon the assumption that a purchaser would not pay more for an improved property than the cost of constructing a similarly located property of equal utility. The cost approach is typically based on reproduction cost or replacement cost, less depreciation. The income approach to valuation attempts to determine market value by analyzing the property's capacity to produce income and converting this potential into an indication of fair market value.

No reported Oregon cases have addressed valuation approaches in an electric utility condemnation case. Recent Oregon condemnations involving distribution assets have settled in a range of one and one-half to two times book value. I am not aware of any successful condemnation of generation assets or any recent condemnation of transmission assets.

If a condemnation takes less than an entire operating system, a condemnee is also entitled to severance damages. Severance damages are defined as loss in value to the condemnee's remaining property. Typical severance damages may include costs of reconfiguring a condemnee's remaining system, increased operating costs due to loss of facilities, or diminution in value due to excess capacity. Severance damage issues would be particularly challenging for a new PUD in Multnomah County, since the PUD would be carving service territory out of not one, but two, pre-existing utilities, each with a corporate headquarters in Multnomah County and each with facilities in the County serving customers located elsewhere. Severance damages would be exacerbated by any inconsistency in election results among municipalities in the County. Only those municipalities which vote in favor of a PUD will be included in the PUD. ORS 261.110(4). To the extent separation of facilities is required to accommodate differing election outcomes, the PUD would be responsible for all associated costs.

Finally, under Oregon condemnation statutes, a condemnee is entitled to its attorneys and experts fees if it defeats the condemnation or receives a jury verdict higher than the pretrial offer of the condemnor.

City of Maywood Park

10100 NE Prescott St., Maywood Park, OR 97220

May 14, 2003

Good morning, County Commissioners, Ladies & Gentlemen.

My name is Mark Hardie. I am the Mayor of The City of Maywood Park, representing nearly 800 residents. I appreciate the opportunity today to express some concerns I have about the formation of a People's Utility District in Multnomah County. All residents of Maywood Park now get their electricity from Pacific Power. We do not wish to risk losing our reliable service and reasonable prices for a costly new PUD.

My primary concern has to do with the Swiss-cheese approach to electricity service that could result from this ballot measure. There are six cities within the county. According to the law, if a majority within any incorporated area votes no, then it is automatically cut out of the whole cheese. For example, if voters in Wood Village and Portland approve a PUD and other areas do not, it is easy to see that the boundaries of this PUD could come out with all kinds of funny-shaped holes. Of particular concern to me is the impact that these holes could have on Maywood Park. It is conceivable that Maywood Park voters would opt out, but the area around us could be included in a new PUD. In that case, separating electricity service, setting up meters and insuring reliable delivery at every point where electric service crosses the boundaries of our community could be a nightmare. And it could cost a lot of money. Maywood Park electricity customers could end up paying – unnecessarily- for this totally irrational system of electric service. It seems unfair to me, since we already have dependable service and reasonable prices. I believe we don't want to give that up.

Another concern I have relates to representation. If a PUD does take over, I am afraid that the big population centers such as Portland will completely dominate the decision-making. Finally, as I understand it, the PUD could condemn only the power lines and poles, but none of the actual power. Since it is not known where a PUD would get its power, or how much the power would cost, I am also worried about how high a PUD's rates would be. As a community representative, an electricity consumer and a small business owner, I do not see the benefits of a PUD for my home business or my community. Maywood Park already has a reliable electricity service at reasonable prices from a good company. That's not worth throwing away.

Thank you very much.

PUD Proposal
City of Gresham Testimony Before the
Multnomah County Board of Commissioners
May 15, 2003

- Good morning. I'm Gresham City Councilor Shane Bemis, and I want to thank you for this opportunity to present the City of Gresham's position on the PUD proposal.
- We also have written testimony in the form of a letter signed by Mayor Becker, which we sent to you in advance.
- Gresham opposes the current initiative proposal to form a peoples electric utility district, but we do not take a position on whether a privately owned or publicly owned electric utility is preferable.
- What is important to the City Council is that our residents have access to dependable and affordable electric services. Electricity is a basic need in today's society and it would be poor public policy to support a proposal that puts reliable electricity at risk.
- There are several reasons for our opposition to this proposal.
- First, this proposal could result in a piecemeal district. Depending upon the outcome of the vote, one city could be inside the district, while a neighboring city could opt out. This is not an effective way to run a business.
- Second, the hostile public takeover of privately owned companies flies in the face of a free market economy. If it is in the public's interest to have electric services provided by a PUD rather than by the private sector, we owe it to our residents and businesses to take the most thoughtful approach possible to create the new system. This would be through a process of negotiation – not by seizing the assets of an existing business.

- Third, any transition from an established service provider to a new system will be disruptive to users – even when both parties are willing. Such transitions almost always last longer than anticipated.
- If there are a lot of service disruptions in the process, residents and businesses alike could face economic hardship. In some situations, unexpected lack of electricity for extended periods could pose health or safety risks.
- The prospect of disruption of this vital service makes it all the more important to carefully consider whether a new system is actually needed, or if the current system should simply be revised in some way.
- The City of Gresham has a good working relationship with Portland General Electric. We've been satisfied with the service, and have found them to be responsible community partners. This makes us doubt the need for wholesale change.
- Another reason Gresham opposes this proposal is that it only looks at a portion of PGE's and Pacific Power's service territories. That doesn't make sense. If indeed a PUD should be formed, we should look at the total service area.
- A district with a much smaller customer base than the current service territories would have a more difficult time negotiating competitive prices. This places it more at the mercy of volatile power markets. In addition, the smaller the entity, the fewer the advantages resulting from economies of scale.
- We oppose this proposal for other reasons as well. The true financial impacts of this proposal have not been fully explored. An electric utility is an extremely complex, sophisticated operation. Without a complete analysis of the start-up and ongoing costs of this proposal, voters cannot make a fully informed decision about whether the PUD really would cost them less in the long run.

- Until the full proposal is developed, other local governments, such as cities, counties and schools cannot analyze how it may affect them. Other services could be significantly impacted if this proposal is not carefully crafted, yet a comprehensive draft proposal has not been available for analysis and comment. It would be irresponsible to ask citizens if they favor the formation of an electric PUD without giving them a complete picture.
- In conclusion, access to reliable electricity is a critical need to residents and businesses alike. The City of Gresham is opposed to the current proposal because a clear case has not been made that a brand new electricity system is even needed. We have seen no evidence that such a drastic action as the hostile takeover of PGE and Pacific Power is in the best interests of our community.
- If Multnomah County does decide to forward this proposal to a future ballot, I urge you to provide a detailed and objective description in the voter's pamphlet. Voters rely on the pamphlet to help them understand the issues, and this proposal is complex with far-reaching consequences.
- Thank you for your time, and I would be happy to answer any questions.

Dear Commissioners:

RE: Proposal to Form a Peoples Electric Utility District

On behalf of the City of Gresham, I am writing to oppose the current initiative proposal to form a peoples electric utility district.

Gresham does not take a position on whether a privately owned or publicly owned electric utility is preferable. What is important to the City is that its residents have access to dependable and affordable electricity services. Electricity is a basic need in today's society and it would be poor public policy to support a proposal that leaves its reliability to chance.

There are several reasons for Gresham's opposition to this proposal.

- Under the proposal, depending upon the outcome of the vote, one city could be inside the district, while a neighboring city could opt out. The result could be a patchwork district, which would make it difficult to effectively provide such a fundamental service.
- The hostile public takeover of privately owned companies flies in the face of a free market economy. If it is in the public's interest to have electric services provided by a PUD rather than by the private sector, the most thoughtful approach would be to create the new system through a process of negotiation.
- Any transition from an established service provider to a new system will be disruptive to users. This disruption could be costly to residents and businesses, and could last longer than anticipated. The prospect of disruption of this vital service makes it all the more important to carefully consider whether a new system is actually needed, or if the current system should simply be revised in some way. In Gresham's case, the City has a cordial relationship with Portland General Electric, has been satisfied with the service, and has found them to be responsible community partners. This makes it hard to understand the need for wholesale change.

May 7, 2003 - Page two -
Multnomah County Commissioners

- It does not make sense to carve out only a portion of PGE and Pacific Power's current service territories. If indeed a PUD should be formed, it would be best to consider the total service area so one segment of customers does not benefit at the expense of others.
- A district with a much smaller customer base than the current service territories would have a more difficult time negotiating competitive prices, placing it more at the mercy of volatile power markets. In addition, the smaller the entity, the fewer the advantages resulting from economies of scale.
- The true financial impacts of this proposal have not been fully explored. Testimony before the Office of Energy on April 7 clearly identified some of the financial complexities of forming and operating an electric utility. Without a complete analysis of the start-up and ongoing costs of this proposal, voters would not be able to make a fully informed decision.
- Gresham receives approximately $3.5 million in electricity license fees, which help pay for public safety, parks and streetlight services. Municipal services could be significantly impacted if this proposal is not carefully crafted, yet a comprehensive draft proposal has not been available for analysis and comment. It would be irresponsible to ask citizens if they favor the formation of an electric PUD without being able to tell them if other local government services provided by cities, counties and schools will or may be affected.

In conclusion, access to reliable electricity is a critical need to residents and businesses alike. The City of Gresham is opposed to the current proposal unless and until these two questions have been answered.

- First, has a clear case been made that the best way for residents within Multnomah County to receive electricity service is through the dismantling of the current system, and the creation of a whole new one?
- Second, is there a benefit to having a PUD that serves only this area?

If the answer to these questions is no, this proposal is not in the community's best interest.

Thank you for your consideration of the City of Gresham's testimony.

Yours truly,

Charles J. Becker
Mayor

To: Multnomah County Board of Commissioners
From: Jean M. Ridings, Interlachen

Re: Public Hearing on Boundaries of the Proposed People's Utility District

Thank you for this opportunity to give my support to the proposed PUD.

As one of the five elected Directors of the Interlachen Water People's Utility District; may I offer a brief history of our formation?

The Interlachen community is located in east Multnomah County between Blue and Fairview Lakes. This community has a lengthy history of many people with vision working hard to protect the surrounding natural resources. Interlachen was incorporated in 1930. Over the years, as growth occurred, four water co-ops were developed. The community also in the 1960's contracted and built the Interlachen sewer to further protect the integrity of both of the lakes, the water wells, as well as Blue Lake Park.

My volunteerism began in early 1970 as Treasurer of the Blue Lake Water Co-Op. In 1987 I was appointed by Multnomah County to the Charter Citizen Involvement Committee where I served until 1991. At the same time the Fairview Creek Coordinating Committee was formed by Interlachen volunteers to study the problems reflected in the storm water flowing into Fairview Lake from the entire watershed. Fairview Lake is the headwaters for the Columbia Slough which is one of the most contaminated bodies of water in Oregon. The community was also very concerned about the Boeing and Cascade Superfund Site as every time Portland pumped their backup water wells in Blue Lake Park, the contamination of the site endangered our water supply.

Around 1993 the community began discussing how best to protect of water resource. This is a very valuable State of Oregon GOAL 5 resource. It was decided to form a People's Utility District to protect this resource for our community.

MULTNOMAH COUNTY WAS NOT HELPFUL.

Many roadblocks and delays, eventually requiring legal assistance were encountered. The community finally received permission to put our election on the ballot in 1996. One interesting roadblock was, even after we had an agreement to have it on the ballot our potential Directors checks to the election division were returned to us! We could now have an election, but No Directors?? Something called a "Writ of Mandamus" was offered to the election office and then our checks were duly recorded. Our election was a resounding success and our People's Utility was formed.

MULTNOMAH WAS NOT HELPFUL and unfortunately had to pay out citizens public money for attorney fees.

The Multnomah County People's Utility District would benefit tax paying citizens greatly. People Utility District Directors have strict guidelines by Oregon statute to maintain. Standards and Practices regarding bidding, Directors behavior and all ethical issues must be strictly adhered to. "Our little PUD that could" has been blessed with a pool of professional experts who are ready, and willing to aid us in the protection of our GOAL 5 resource. The Multnomah County People's Utility District should be allowed to be on the ballot as soon as possible to give ALL TAX PAYING CITIZENS an opportunity to vote on this extremely important issue.

May 15, 2003

To the Multnomah County Board of Commissioners:

Thank you for this opportunity to address you. My name is Mara Woloshin. I am not an engineer, utility expert, attorney, or a CPA. I am a parent, an educator, small business owner and electricity consumer in Multnomah County. I am also here as a member and representative of a rapidly growing committee of concerned citizens, businesses and community groups opposing formation of a Multnomah People's Utility District.

A government takeover of Portland General Electric's and Pacific Power's customers in Multnomah County is a bad idea. It would be costly, risky, bad for business, bad for the community and bad for the environment. It's unnecessary. And, of special concern for this hearing, it would be incredibly complicated.

Here are some of the reasons a takeover would be costly. First, Multnomah County electricity customers would have to pay more than a billion dollars just for the poles and wires, according to expert testimony at the Oregon Office of Energy hearing in April.

Also, we do not know what the PUD's electricity rates would be. Although it might be able to condemn the power lines, it will have no electricity to send over those lines. It would most likely have to buy its electricity from the volatile wholesale power market or from the Bonneville Power Administration. And, BPA rates for government utilities have increased 45 percent since 2001, with yet another significant increase planned this year.

The Oregon Public Utility Commission reviews and regulates prices charged by private utilities. But no independent body would regulate the People's Utility District's rates.

Beyond the cost issue, establishing a PUD would be very complex and cause huge problems. According to what I heard at the OOE hearing, neither Pacific Power nor PGE will be a willing seller to this proposed PUD. A forced takeover by a startup utility would bring lawsuits that could drag on for years. This legal struggle alone will cost customers millions of dollars.

May 15, 2003

It will also create uncertainty for businesses and further depress our economy. A government takeover by condemnation, accompanied by legal challenges, huge costs and uncertain rates, will do nothing but scare new business away.

The PUD would also create an artificial boundary line around Multnomah County, paying no attention to the complexities of electricity distribution and metering. It would cost customers millions to reconfigure these fragments into one system, but all this expense would create no added value for us as customers.

Also, I understand that cities within the county boundaries will not be part of a PUD if the measure were to pass overall but fails in any of these jurisdictions. That means the PUD would make a huge jigsaw puzzle out of our electric service. This is a complicated and unnecessary risk.

In light of all this, establishing a PUD would be incredibly risky. We already have reliable service. We shouldn't risk losing it. There's no way to know if a new PUD could do the job. PGE and Pacific Power have served Multnomah County for more than 100 years. Both companies have excellent records of reliability and customer service. Why should we give up successful private enterprise for an untested government bureaucracy?

Finally, a startup People's Utility District would be bad for schools, community organizations and the environment. Police, fire, safety and school systems would lose much-needed funds at the worst possible time. Pacific Power and PGE support these services by paying millions in franchise fees, not to mention other local taxes.

Charities such as SOLV and Human Solutions would lose nearly $1.7 million dollars contributed annually by PGE and Pacific Power. Programs that foster renewable electrical generation would end. And schools stand to lose $1.4 million dollars a year in energy conservation funds.

The bottom line is we just can't afford a new People's Utility District. It's costly, risky and unnecessary.

Thank you.

REMARKS BEFORE THE MULTNOMAH COUNTY
COMMISSIONERS
MAY 15, 2003

MY NAME IS ROBERT F. LANZ.

I HAVE BEEN A PGE CUSTOMER FOR ALMOST 30 YEARS.

I AM A SMALL BUSINESS OWNER IN INSURANCE AND INVESTMENTS AND HAVE CLIENTS WHO COULD BE BUYERS OF EITHER NEW PUD BONDS OR SHARES OF PGE AND PACIFICORP.

I TOO HAVE BEEN A VICTIM OF ENRON'S MISDEEDS.

I TOO HAVE HAD MY PROFITS ERODED BY 30% RATE INCREASES.

I TOO DO NOT WANT TO SEE THIS TRAGEDY HAPPEN AGAIN.

HOWEVER THE FORMATION OF A PUBLIC UTILITY DISTRICT IN MULTNOMAH COUNTY WOULD VIRTUALLY GUARANTEE A REPEAT AND PERHAPS AN EVEN GREATER FINANCIAL DISASTER.

REFLECT A MOMENT ON WHAT WERE THE CAUSES OF THE ENERGY CRISIS IN THE SUMMER OF 2000 WHICH NECESSITATED THE 30% JUMP IN OUR ELECTRIC BILLS.

THE FOUR PRIMARY CAUSES WERE:

1. ABUSES OF THE PRICING OF POWER DUE TO INADEQUATE REGULATION; ALSO KNOWN AS DEREGULATION.
2. EXCESSIVE USE OF DEBT
3. POOR MANAGEMENT AND
4. HAVING TO BUY ENERGY IN THE "SPOT" MARKET

A NEW PUD IN MULTNOMAH COUNTY WOULD BRING US ALL OF THESE SAME PROBLEMS ALL OVER AGAIN.

AS TO INADEQUATE REGULATION:

2. EXCESSIVE USE OF DEBT
3. POOR MANAGEMENT AND
4. HAVING TO BUY ENERGY IN THE "SPOT" MARKET

A NEW PUD IN MULTNOMAH COUNTY WOULD BRING US ALL OF THESE SAME PROBLEMS ALL OVER AGAIN.

PUDS IN THE STATE OF OREGON ARE NOT SUBJECT TO ANY REGULATION BY THE PUBLIC UTILITY COMMISSION; NO REGULATION IS EVEN WORSE THAN THE CHAOS OF DE-REGULATION WHICH ALLOWED THE ENERGY CRISIS TO HAPPEN IN 2000.

LIKE ENRON, THERE COULD POSSIBLY EXIST ACCOUNTING IRREGULARITIES WITHOUT A UNIFORM SYSTEM OF ACCOUNTS AND WITHOUT THE OVERSIGHT OF THE OREGON PUC.

INEXPERT ACCOUNTING AND AUDITING ON THE PART OF THE PUD COULD LEAD TO ANOTHER ENRON OR ANOTHER UTILITY BILLING FIASCO.

AS TO EXCESSIVE BORROWING:

THE PUD PROPONENTS NAIVELY CLAIM THAT THEY WILL BE ABLE TO FINANCE THE ACQUISITION WITH LOWER COST MONEY. OBVIOUSLY THEY ARE ASSUMING THEY CAN FINANCE THE ENTIRE OPERATION WITH ALLEGEDLY LOWER COST TAX-EXEMPT DEBT.

THIS ASSUMPTION IS INVALID FOR SEVERAL REASONS.

THERE IS GREAT DOUBT THAT A NEW PUD WITHOUT AN OPERATING HISTORY WOULD BE ABLE TO ATTRACT A SIGNIFICANT AMOUNT OF CAPITAL. A NEW PUD WOULD HAVE NO MANAGEMENT EXPERTISE, NO SOURCES OF GENERATION, NO CREDIT RECORD, NO EQUITY AND NO ACCESS TO THE STOCK MARKET.

WITHOUT ACCESS TO A MAJOR PART OF THE FINANCIAL MARKET, THE PUD WOULD HAVE TO FINANCE ITSELF WITH 100% DEBT. EVEN A BANK IS RELUCTANT TO LEND 100% UNLESS THE COLLATERAL IS EVEN GREATER.

THERE IS ALREADY A GREAT DEMAND FOR TAX-EXEMPT DEBT IN THE STATE OF OREGON. CAN THE STATE 'S TAX-PAYERS OR RATE PAYERS SUPPORT THIS DEBT BURDEN?

WHAT WILL BE THE IMPACT ON EXISTING ALREADY WEAK BOND RATINGS? WHETHER REVENUE BONDS OR GENERAL OBLIGATION BONDS, RATING AGENCIES MUST EXAMINE THE TOTAL DEBT AND TAX BURDEN ON THE CITIZENS OF THE STATE OR COUNTY.

EVEN IF THE DEBT WERE IN THE FORM OF REVENUE BONDS, RATING AGENCIES WOULD TEND TO AWARD ONLY THE LOWEST OF RATINGS; CERTAINLY WELL BELOW THE EXISTING RATINGS OF EITHER PORTLAND GENERAL ELECTRIC OR PACIFICORP.

IN ADDITION TO THE FINANCIAL RISK FACING A NEW PUD WITH TOO MUCH DEBT, A RATING AGENCY WOULD ALSO VIEW NEGATIVELY THE GREAT AMOUNT OF OPERATING RISK IT WOULD HAVE AS A NEW ORGANIZATION WHICH WOULD BE MUCH SMALLER AND LESS ECONOMICALLY DIVERSIFIED THAN PGE.

A NEW PUD WOULD INDEED BE A VERY RISKY BUSINESS.

AS TO MANAGEMENT OF A NEW PUD, THEY MIGHT VERY WELL BE MORE RESPONSIVE TO CUSTOMERS BUT THIS COULD LEAD TO BEING LESS RESPONSIBLE IN THE LONG-RUN.

LOCAL CONTROL AND LOCAL OWNERSHIP ARE AN ILLUSION. A NEW PUD AS CONTEMPLATED BY THE PUD PROPONENTS WILL BE FINANCED WITH TAX-EXEMPT DEBT. FOR THE MOST PART, THESE BONDHOLDERS ARE EITHER INSTITUTIONS, BOND FUNDS OR HIGH NET WORTH INDIVIDUALS SEEKING TAX SHELTER. THEY ARE LIKELY NOT OUR NEIGHBORS; THEY LIVE IN FINANCIAL CENTERS SUCH AS NEW YORK, NEW JERSEY AND LA.

IF CREDIT ENHANCED BY BANK LETTERS OF CREDIT, FINANCIAL DECISIONMAKERS COULD EVEN BE LOCATED IN JAPAN OR ZURICH, HARDLY MY IDEA OF LOCAL CONTROL.

IF THEIR DEBT SERVICE IS NOT ADEQUATELY PROVIDED, THEY WILL DEMAND EITHER HIGHER RATES OR WANT THEIR MONEY BACK; THEY ARE HARD PEOPLE WITH LITTLE INTEREST IN OUR COMMUNITY EXCEPT AS A SOURCE OF RETURN OF THEIR MONEY.

ON THE OTHER HAND, THE MAJORITY OF UTILITY STOCKHOLDERS ARE EITHER INDIVIDUALS, OFTEN ON FIXED INCOME, OR INSTITUTIONS WHO REPRESENT GROUPS OF INDIVIDUALS THE MAJORITY OF WHICH HAVE HISTORICALLY BEEN CUSTOMERS OF THE UTILITIES IN WHICH THEY INVEST. THIS SEEMS TO ME A BETTER WAY TO DEFINE "LOCAL CONTROL".

IN RETURN FOR THE ILLUSION OF LOCAL CONTROL, CUSTOMERS WOULD TRADE OFF THE BENEFITS OF A UTILITY'S OBLIGATION TO PROVIDE ADEQUATE SERVICE.

MORE THAN LIKELY THE PUDS BOARD WOULD BE COMPRISED OF INDIVIDUALS WITH POLITICAL BACKGROUNDS. POLITICIANS ARE NOT WELL KNOWN TO NOT BE OVERLY CONCERNED WITH THE LONG-TERM .

UTILITIES MUST PLAN 10 TO 30 YEARS INTO THE FUTURE. THEY ARE CURRENTLY REQUIRED BY LAW TO PROVIDE ADEQUATE UTILITY SERVICE. THEY HAVE AN UNCONDITIONAL OBLIGATION TO SERVE THE PUBLIC'S NEEDS.

WOULD THIS COMMITMENT TO PROVIDE SERVICE BE AS STRONG WITH A POLITICIZED MANAGEMENT?

NO ONE LIKES RATE INCREASES BUT SOMETIMES HARD CHOICES MUST BE MADE TO KEEP THE LIGHTS ON AND THE WATER RUNNING.

TO ME P U D means Promises which are Un Deliverable.

PORTLAND BUSINESS
ALLIANCE

May 15, 2003

Multnomah County Board of Commissioners
Multnomah Building
501 SE Hawthorne
Portland, OR 97214

To the Board of Commissioners:

The Portland Business Alliance is opposed to the proposal to form a new People's Utility District in Multnomah County because we believe it will increase uncertainty and risk for electric customers of PGE and PacifiCorp, it is bad for the economy, and it sends the wrong message to businesses looking to invest in the community.

Increasing uncertainty and risk

The creation of the Multnomah County PUD, in the volatile energy environment of today, raises the following important issues, which proponents cannot answer with certainty:

- The PUD's energy supply appears anything but certain, given the demands on federal hydropower sources and the fact that the majority of PacifiCorp's and PGE's generation facilities are not within Multnomah County.
- Because it applies only to customers in Multnomah County, the PUD effort would break up PGE's and PacifiCorp's service areas, creating serious questions about how service will be delivered to utility customers in the remainder of PGE's and PacifiCorp's service territories, particularly in the metropolitan region.
- The Alliance is on record with Portland City Council opposing any acquisition of utilities by condemnation that will only further increase the uncertainty and risk of energy supplies.

Bad for the Economy

Businesses would be unable to plan for the future. This is the worst possible time to be taking risks with one of our essential services. More risk and uncertainty is the last thing our economy needs.

New businesses would be discouraged from locating here

The initiative sends exactly the wrong message to businesses looking to invest in our community. And what business in the world would want to come to a market where the energy cost is a total wild card?

Therefore, the Portland Business Alliance opposes the formation of the PUD and the use of condemnation to force a government takeover of PacifiCorp and PGE distribution systems in Multnomah County.

Sincerely,

John Rakowitz
Government Affairs Manager
Portland Business Alliance

POSITION OPPOSING
THE FORMATION OF AN ELECTRIC PEOPLE'S UTILITY DISTRICT (PUD)
IN MULTNOMAH COUNTY

Considerations:

- Electricity is vital to our economy and to the success of business.
- Business is looking for reliable power and predictable rates.
- Business is also looking for energy providers that will be innovative and constantly looking for creative solutions to problems that will enhance efficiency and reduce upward pressure on rates.
- The People's Utility District initiative calls into question what form of utility governance structure can best deliver the rate predictability and innovation that will serve the needs of this community in general and business in particular.

The Portland Business Alliance believes the proposal to form a new People's Utility District in Multnomah County will increase uncertainty and risk for electric customers of PGE and PacifiCorp, and sends the wrong message to businesses looking to invest in the community. The Multnomah PUD proposal does not offer persuasive arguments for customers of PGE and PacifiCorp generally and the business community specifically to support the effort.

Therefore, the Portland Business Alliance opposes the formation of the PUD and the subsequent condemnation and forced government takeover of the assets of PacifiCorp and Portland General Electric distribution systems in Multnomah County, for the following reasons:

- Philosophically, the Alliance cannot support the condemnation of a private company.
- The creation of the Multnomah County PUD, in the volatile energy environment of today, raises the following important issues which proponents can not answer with certainty:
  - The PUD's energy supply appears anything but certain given the demands on federal hydropower sources and the fact that the majority of PGE's and PacifiCorp's generation facilities are not within Multnomah County.
  - Because it applies only to customers in Multnomah County, the PUD effort would break up PGE's and PacifiCorp's service area, creating serious questions about how service will be delivered to utility customers in the remainder of PGE's and PacifiCorp's service territory, particularly in the remainder of the metropolitan region.
  - Acquisition by condemnation will likely result in litigation, which introduces further uncertainty into the formation process.
- These issues cause the Alliance to conclude that a Multnomah County PUD can not offer the rate predictability and innovation this region needs from its electric utilities.

Chair Linn, Commissioners, Citizens:

There have been several reasons put forth as to why there should not be a People's Utility District in Multnomah County. I would like to examine them.

1. Breaking up PGE's service territory will destroy economies of scale.

If this is true, why are Forest Grove and McMinnville able to provide electricity at significantly lower cost than PGE?

2. Splitting the territory among multiple counties will make it difficult to run.

If this were true, Metro would have been impossible. Regardless of one's opinions of Metro's policies, it is a clear example of multiple governments working well together.

3. Private enterprise is inherently better than government.

I hope that no one still believes this in the wake of Enron, Global Crossing, Tyco, etc. But, ignoring spectacular criminality for the moment, remember that California's rolling blackouts of 2001 affected only privately run utilities.

But what about the Water Bureau debacle? The initial problem was with a private software firm that produced a non-working billing system and wouldn't fix it; and the total cost to Portland, around $20 million, pales in comparison to the over $500 million that PGE/Enron managed to take from their rate payers for state and federal taxes ... that they never paid!

4. A People's Utility District is not under the "protection" of the Public Utility Commission.

The PUC approved the sale of PGE to Enron. The PUC was unable to protect its constituents from Enron's vast web of deceit and manipulation that destroyed economies up and down the West coast; and the PUC approved a huge rate increase to boot.

5. Workers will be at risk of job loss.

If this didn't ignore the destruction to peoples lives and savings Enron/ PGE visited on its employees, and communities around the country, it would be laughable.

Plus, bankruptcy has been used before to shed a company of its union. A P.U.D., conversely, must honor union contracts in any entity it acquires.

6. Taking over PGE will send a bad message to businesses.

First, PGE, unlike other businesses, is a state-regulated monopoly. Its income is guaranteed.

Second, is it a good message that a business can steal from its community and workers, manipulate markets, and keep money that should go to government in taxes? This is the message we send if we let the 50% rate increase imposed on PGE's industrial customers stand; this message says that small businesses – most vulnerable to huge rate increases – will not be protected from predatory practices

A People's Utility District sends a message that we want local ownership and local control; that we want the people who run our electric utility to be directly accountable to us, not to far-away shareholders; that we value a responsibly-run business that doesn't benefit dishonest and venal executives.

A P.U.D. will prevent our utility from being swallowed by the next bigger fish that comes along - and there is always a bigger fish.

We will be hearing these fallacious arguments again and again. They are untrue now and always. Those who want a publicly-owned utility have only word of mouth to fight the propaganda that multiple millions of dollars from PGE and PPL will purchase.

We must share the truth now, and remember it in September.

Thank you.

My name is Karen Lee, a Government Affairs representative for Portland General Electric – I work with County and City elected officials and staff on behalf of the company outside Multnomah County.

I would like the Multnomah County Commissioners to be aware of the growing concerns by government entities and business organizations outside the proposed PUD boundary. As you are beginning to recognize, this PUD proposal is unlike any of the public utility proposals that have taken place in Oregon. In this current case, the large radius of PGE and Pacific Power customers effected does not stop at the Multnomah County line and many customers I work with every day have legitimate questions and concerns.

Attached to my testimony, I will submit a partial list of governments and business organizations that have formally approved a resolution or a letter opposing the Multnomah County PUD. Either their opposition statements have been compiled in the Oregon Office of Energy Report or they were sent to you to be submitted in today's boundary hearing record. From government, the list includes:

The Board of Commissioners of Marion County and Polk County
The cities of Boardman, Hillsboro, Hubbard, Salem, Silverton, Tigard, Tualatin and, Beaverton Mayor Rob Drake. I know of six additional government entities that will be discussing this issue by the end of May.

From business, the list includes:

Associated Oregon Industries,
Chambers of Salem, Tualatin, and Lake Oswego
The economic development associations such as Clackamas County Economic Development Commission, SEDCOR, and Westside Economic Alliance.
Four other Chambers have it on their agenda by the end of May. Larry Glasscock who is President of SEDCOR wrote an Op-Ed that does a good job summarizing their concerns. It was published in the Statesman Journal Tuesday (May 13) and I will be attaching a copy of his Op-Ed.
Of course the list I submit today will include government and business entities inside Multnomah County.

As you all know, these organizations have a lot on their plate. They did not take their opposition statements lightly and chose to spend their time analyzing the pros and cons of the PUD. I would hope that as they have reached out to you to share their input, you too will reach out to them – establish a dialogue and view this as a regional issue that has regional impacts.

Thank you for your time today.

Power plan is irresponsible

What does a public hearing before the Multnomah County commissioners have to do with Marion and Polk County? When it comes to electric rates — plenty!

The Oregon Public Power Coalition has spearheaded an effort to create a People's Utility District, carved out of Portland General Electric and Pacific Power and Light territory in Multnomah County. The proposal would impact about 248,000 of PGE's 742,000 customers and 68,000 of Pacific Power's 500,000 Oregon customers.

For those who love to hate Enron, this effort has great emotional appeal. However, from the technical, financial and practical aspects, it really stinks.

Both PGE and PP&L each own and operate their own network, poles, wires, substations and other critical equipment that serve all of their customers. These systems do not conform to the boundaries of a single county.

The formation of the PUD would require PGE and Pacific Power to segregate their transmission and service lines including substations from the area to be served by the new PUD. The cost of the segregation is estimated to exceed $50 million. All of these costs would not be borne by the PUD, but, rather, by the PGE and PP&L ratepayers.

LARRY GLASSOCK

GUEST OPINION

While only the customers in Multnomah County would be allowed to vote on the creation of the PUD, the rates for the remaining PGE and Pacific Power customers would also rise to offset the costs of segregating the systems. This is tantamount to taxation without representation.

At a public hearing conducted by the Oregon Office of Energy on April 7, the prime proponent of the PUD, Dan Meek of the Oregon Public Power Coalition, used his time to conduct a diatribe against PGE and Enron. He offered nothing in terms of analytical information such as a proforma operating statement or operating and service plans for the proposed PUD.

Meek also said that the PUD would have priority access to Bonneville Power Administration power and services. The implication is that the PUD would distribute low-cost hydropower to their customers.

What he failed to point out is that BPA has oversubscribed its power-generation capacities and must buy energy on the wholesale market, subjecting the new PUD to price fluctuations and higher-cost power.

Meek also cites that rates would be lower because the PUD would not pay taxes. Oh boy! That's really going to help schools, social services and fire and safety.

I don't want this article to be construed as an "anti-PUD" piece. Far from it. I believe there is a time and place for PUDs, like the well-run Salem Electric, serving portions of Salem and Keizer.

However, the Multnomah County PUD proposal is in the wrong place, at the wrong time and proposed for the wrong reasons. It is utterly irresponsible.

Make your voice heard at the May 15 Multnomah County Board of Commissioners' meeting.

Larry Glassock of Salem is president of SEDCOR. He can be reached by e-mail at L.Glassock@SEDCOR.com

Multnomah County Commissioners Hearing on the MCPUD

My name is Joan Horton. I'm a member of the Oregon Public Power Coalition and a Chief Petitioner on the Multnomah County PUD petition.

Our opponents claim that Oregon and its various cities & counties will lose tax revenues if a PUD is created.

This isn't true.

Franchise Taxes & Property Taxes:

PUDs pay franchise fees to cities for use of the public right of way. These fees are based on the amount of revenue collected within the city limits. PUDs also pay property taxes to the counties based on property value. Columbia River PUD recently announced that it paid $ 712,036 in franchise fees & property taxes for 2002. A copy of the release is attached. (www5.crpud.net/about/news)

Payroll Taxes:

Unemployment taxes:

According to the Oregon Employment Department, PUDs do not pay the state unemployment insurance like non-public companies do. However they directly reimburse the state for any unemployment drawn by an ex-employee. This is a dollar-for-dollar reimbursement, so the state isn't shorted there. In the long run this saves the PUD money, a savings reflected in the customers' rates.

Tri-Met taxes:

According to the Oregon Department of Revenue, a PUD pays the payroll based Tri-Met tax at the same rate as non-public employers. I've included a copy of the 4 pages of data about transit payroll taxes from the ODR's website. The mention of the PUD is on page 3.

Income Taxes:

Finally I know you've heard about the missing state & federal income taxes. PGE ratepayers were charged for and paid federal, state and local income taxes. PGE paid them over to ENRON. ENRON, by virtue of being bankrupt, hasn't paid those taxes over to the federal, state and local agencies. So Oregon localities, which are hurting for money, haven't received the taxes that Oregonians have paid. This year these state taxes equal $15.6million. Combined with $77 million for federal taxes, this equals $254,000/day. ( $$77m + $15.6m = $92.6m$   $$92.6m/365 \text{ days} = $253,698/\text{day}$ )

What could Multnomah County do with $254,000/day?

I believe that there are many benefits of public ownership that Multnomah County residents haven't ever experienced. It's time we had the chance. We know what private ownership is like.

Press Release from Columbia River PUD

www5.crpud.net/about/news

PUD Property Tax, Franchise Fee Payments Total $712,036

(St. Helens, OR)

Columbia River PUD paid local governments $712,036 in franchise fees and property taxes for 2002. Franchise fees are fees paid by utilities to local municipalities to be permitted to operate in their rights of way. The fee amounts are based on revenues collected from customers within the city limits. The PUD's 2003 franchise fee payments to each city are based on the total revenues collected in 2002 from PUD customers within each city's boundaries. The 2003 franchise fee payments were:

- St. Helens - $274,047
- Scappoose - $94,787
- Columbia City - $30,874
- Rainier - $6,255
- Prescott - $1,198

Property taxes are paid to Columbia County and help to fund schools, police departments, fire districts and other city and county services. The PUD's 2002 property tax bill of $304,875 is the seventh largest in the county.

Oregon Transit Payroll Taxes for Employers

Should I be filing?

A guide to TriMet and Lane Transit payroll taxes.

Transit District Taxes

The Oregon Department of Revenue administers tax programs for the Tri-County Metropolitan Transportation District (TriMet) and the Lane County Mass Transit District (LTD). Nearly every employer who pays wages for services performed in these districts must pay transit payroll tax.

The transit tax is imposed directly on the employer. The tax is figured only on the amount of gross payroll for services performed within the TriMet or Lane Transit districts.

Who must file and pay?

All employers who are paying wages earned in the TriMet or LTD districts must register and file with the Oregon Department of Revenue. Wages include all salaries, commissions, bonuses, fees, payments to a deferred compensation plan, or other items of value.

Your payroll service may not be aware that you have employees working in the transit districts. If so, you need to contact the service regarding your reporting and payment responsibility.

How to register

If you are a new employer and subject to the transit tax, complete the Combined Employer's Registration, 150-211-055, including the transit tax section.

If you are currently registered and have employees in the transit tax areas, complete the Change in Status Report, 150-211-157.

These forms are available on the Internet at www.dor.state.or.us/formspay.html, or contact the Oregon Department of Revenue at 503-945-8100.

GENERAL INFORMATION

Oregon law

Oregon law (ORS 308.515) requires the department to make an annual assessment of designated utilities and companies.

ORS 308.515(1)(a) charges the department to assess the following property having situs in this state:

“Except as provided in subsection (2) of this section, any property used or held for its own future use by any company in performing or maintaining any of the following businesses or services or in selling any of the following commodities, whether in domestic or interstate commerce or both, and whether mutually, or for hire, sale or consumption by other persons: Railroad transportation; railroad switching and terminal; electric rail and trackless trolley transportation; private rail-car transportation; air transportation; water transportation upon inland waters of the State of Oregon; air or railway express; communication; heating; gas; electricity; pipeline; toll bridge.”

ORS 308.525 specifies what facts the companies should supply to the department. ORS 308.525(14) also allows the department to gather “any other facts or information the department requires in the form of return prescribed by it.”

Testimony of
Samuel Brooks, President & CEO of Brooks Staffing
Regarding Pacific Power's Commitment to the Community

I am Samuel Brooks, President and CEO of Brooks Staffing. My firm is based in Northeast Portland; we provide staffing services for more than 80 business and government employers throughout the Western United States. I am a member of the Portland Business Alliance Board of Directors and am President and Chair of the Board of the Oregon Association of Minority Entrepreneurs.

Over the past several years I also have held a variety of positions including Chairman of Governor Kitzhaber's Workforce Investment Board, Chairman of the Pacific Incubator Network plus Chairman of both the Oregon and National Small Business Development center Advisory Board. In these varied roles I have witnessed Pacific Power's commitment to the communities it serves and I have partnered with Pacific in efforts to improve our own Portland community.

I am here tonight to tell you that we should treasure the contributions Pacific Power makes to our community. If it is not broken please do not fix it. I question whether the proposed Multnomah PUD could or would ever be able to deliver the type of community commitment that Pacific Power has. Pacific Power is valued and we should continue to value it as a key contributor to the livability of our area. Let me tell you why I feel this way...

North and Northeast Portland does not look the way it did 15 or 20 years ago. It has improved. Some of that improvement is due to Pacific Power's involvement and willingness to work with others to help the area. Here are three examples of the commitment Pacific Power has made to its North and Northeast Portland service area...

First, is the Northeast Portland Business Incubator Project. About a dozen years ago, Pacific worked with me on the idea of creating a commercial/industrial business incubator on a block of property owned by the utility. Pacific had decided to work on this business incubator concept after doing a community development assessment and after talking with other project partners in the community.

The short story is that we did establish the incubator and it still operates today. The results have been spectacular, including:

- 150 people work for businesses in the incubator right now. They all support their families and pay taxes.
- The incubator supports a diversity of companies in North and Northeast Portland.
- Our business incubator is the largest in the Northwest and will soon be the largest on the West Coast.
- The incubator creates ownership, jobs pride, and wealth—it would not exist without Pacific Power's leadership and partnership.

Second, I am proud that out of the incubator project we have created OAME—the Oregon Association of Minority Entrepreneurs. I am the Founder, President and Chair of the Board of OAME. We now assist nearly 800 minority and small business members all across Oregon. Pacific Power has supported OAME since its inception.

Third, I would like to highlight the fact that Pacific Power allowed one of their key employees—Sheila Holden—to serve for two years as a loaned executive to the North and Northeast Economic Development Alliance. The Alliance has been a catalyst for the comprehensive redevelopment of one of Oregon's primary pockets of poverty, blight and crime. Some results of the Alliance's work include:

- $110 million leveraged into the area
- Five recruited and retained businesses
- 200 jobs for the unemployed and hard to employ
- 82 jobs saved
- The Governor's Community Partnership Award
- Plus, a staffed office and multi-year funding for the Alliance

Having the support of Pacific Power and Sheila Holden as a loaned executive has substantively advanced our success at the Alliance.

Through Sheila's work with the community and Pacific's support, Northeast Portland continues to support the community's vision of success.

There are more examples of Pacific's partnership with the community but these are key. These examples all illustrate that we should retain Pacific Power. I urge you to reject the PUD proposal and not risk losing the substantial community commitment, affordable energy price and high energy reliability benefits Pacific Power provides for its customers in Multnomah County.

Portland, OR 97214

Dear Chair Diane Linn:

Testimony of Samuel Brooks, President & CEO of Brooks Staffing and President and Chair of the Board of Oregon Association of Minority Entrepreneurs Regarding Pacific Power's Commitment to the Community

I am Samuel Brooks, President and CEO of Brooks Staffing. My firm is based in Northeast Portland; we provide staffing services for more than 80 business and government employers throughout the Western United States. I am a member of the Portland Business Alliance Board of Directors and am President and Chair of the Board of the Oregon Association of Minority Entrepreneurs.

Over the past several years I also have held a variety of positions including Chairman of Governor Kitzhaber's Workforce Investment Board, Chairman of the Pacific Incubator Network plus Chairman of both the Oregon and National Small Business Development center Advisory Board. In these varied roles I have witnessed Pacific Power's commitment to the communities it serves and I have partnered with Pacific in efforts to improve our own Portland community.

I am here tonight to tell you that we should treasure the contributions Pacific Power makes to our community. If it is not broken please do not fix it. I question whether the proposed Multnomah PUD could or would ever be able to deliver the type of community commitment that Pacific Power has. Pacific Power is valued and we should continue to value it as a key contributor to the livability of our area. Let me tell you why I feel this way...

North and Northeast Portland does not look the way it did 15 or 20 years ago. It has improved. Some of that improvement is due to Pacific Power's involvement and willingness to work with others to help the area. Here are three examples of the commitment Pacific Power has made to its North and Northeast Portland service area...

First, is the Northeast Portland Business Incubator Project. About a dozen years ago, Pacific worked with me on the idea of creating a commercial/industrial business incubator on a block of property owned by the utility. Pacific had decided to work on this business incubator concept after doing a community development assessment and after talking with other project partners in the community.

The short story is that we did establish the incubator and it still operates today. The results have been spectacular, including:

- 150 people work for businesses in the incubator right now. They all support their families and pay taxes.
- The incubator supports a diversity of companies in North and Northeast Portland.
- Our business incubator is the largest in the Northwest and will soon be the largest on the West Coast.
- The incubator creates ownership, jobs pride, and wealth—it would not exist without Pacific Power’s leadership and partnership.

Second, I am proud that out of the incubator project we have created OAME—the Oregon Association of Minority Entrepreneurs. I am the Founder, President and Chair of the Board of OAME. We now assist nearly 800 minority and small business members all across Oregon. Pacific Power has supported OAME since its inception.

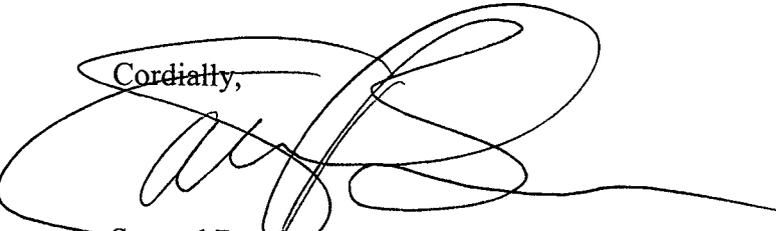

Third, I would like to highlight the fact that Pacific Power allowed one of their key employees—Sheila Holden—to serve for two years as a loaned executive to the North and Northeast Economic Development Alliance. The Alliance has been a catalyst for the comprehensive redevelopment of one of Oregon’s primary pockets of poverty, blight and crime. Some results of the Alliance’s work include:

- $110 million leveraged into the area
- Five recruited and retained businesses
- 200 jobs for the unemployed and hard to employ
- 82 jobs saved
- The Governor’s Community Partnership Award
- Plus, a staffed office and multi-year funding for the Alliance

Having the support of Pacific Power and Sheila Holden as a loaned executive has substantively advanced our success at the Alliance. Through Sheila’s work with the community and Pacific’s support, Northeast Portland continues to support the community’s vision of success.

There are more examples of Pacific’s partnership with the community but these are key. These examples all illustrate that we should retain Pacific Power. I urge you to reject the PUD proposal and not risk losing the substantial community commitment, affordable energy price and high energy reliability benefits Pacific Power provides for its customers in Multnomah County.

Re: Multnomah County People's Utility District Proposal

Dear Members of the Board:

The purpose of this letter is to offer my perspective as a former chief elections officer in Oregon concerning the proposed Multnomah County People's Utility District (Multnomah PUD). This proposal, if approved, would make a significant change in the way electricity is provided to all, some or a few of the residents of Multnomah County. My comments focus on the election complexities of a PUD formation measure because of boundary considerations, and the need for the County to explain fully those complexities to the voters in its Voters' Pamphlet.

Should this measure go before voters in Multnomah County, there will be a countywide pass or fail vote on the PUD formation and its accompanying property tax levy. Simultaneously, voters in each local municipality and unincorporated area within the County will be holding their own mini-election to determine whether that municipality or unincorporated area is to be included in the PUD. This is because ORS 261.110(4) provides:

“When any municipality or separate parcel of territory voting at a formation election for a People's Utility District (“PUD” or “district”) casts a majority vote against formation of the district, the municipality or separate parcel of territory shall not be included in any district formed as a result of the election.”

A municipality is an incorporated city or town with a council or legislative body. There are at least six municipalities in Multnomah County, and at least one and perhaps more than one “separate parcel of territory.” The municipalities include Portland, Gresham, Troutdale, Fairview, Wood Village and Maywood Park. The separate parcels of territory are unincorporated areas that are not contiguous to land that is within a PUD or unincorporated areas that are described in the petition to form the PUD.

Depending on how the voters in each municipality and separate parcel of territory vote on the Multnomah PUD formation measure, there are dozens of ways in which the district could be configured. For example: the voters of Portland, Troutdale and Fairview could vote against the measure, but the voters of Maywood Park, Gresham, Wood Village and the unincorporated areas could vote in favor of the measure. In that case, only Maywood Park, Gresham, Wood Village and the unincorporated areas would be included within the boundaries of the Multnomah PUD. Numerous other combinations are possible, depending on whether a majority of those who vote in each city and in each separate parcel of territory vote for or against the measure. In fact, it is possible that the election would produce a situation in which three utilities exist in the County – the Multnomah PUD, Pacific Power, and Portland General Electric.

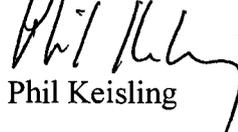

Oregon's Constitution and statutes also require that a Board of Directors for the Multnomah PUD be elected at the time the PUD is formed. Voters will need to consider the possible multiple outcomes of the formation question itself in order to evaluate the candidates and their residency qualifications for the Board. Using the previous example, if all of the Board candidates were Portland residents and Portland voters vote against inclusion in the District, none of the elected Board members could serve and thus there would need to be another election for qualified directors.

In view of these boundary and voting complexities – multiple jurisdictions voting against inclusion, a property tax levy effected by those areas and municipalities that may or may not be included, and the implications of Board candidate residency – I believe it is essential that the County explain in great detail this complex measure and related ballot for the Board in its Voters' Pamphlet. Publication and distribution of a detailed Voters' Pamphlet is one of the best methods for ensuring that the information voters need to consider this measure is provided to them.

Multnomah County has a long and proud tradition of printing and distributing such a pamphlet, even when state law does not require it, for elections that are considerably less complex and far reaching. I simply urge that, for whatever election date the County Board chooses for these issues you ensure publication of such a Pamphlet to give voters essential information and perspectives to help ensure an informed and educated decision.

Thank you for the opportunity to comment on this measure.

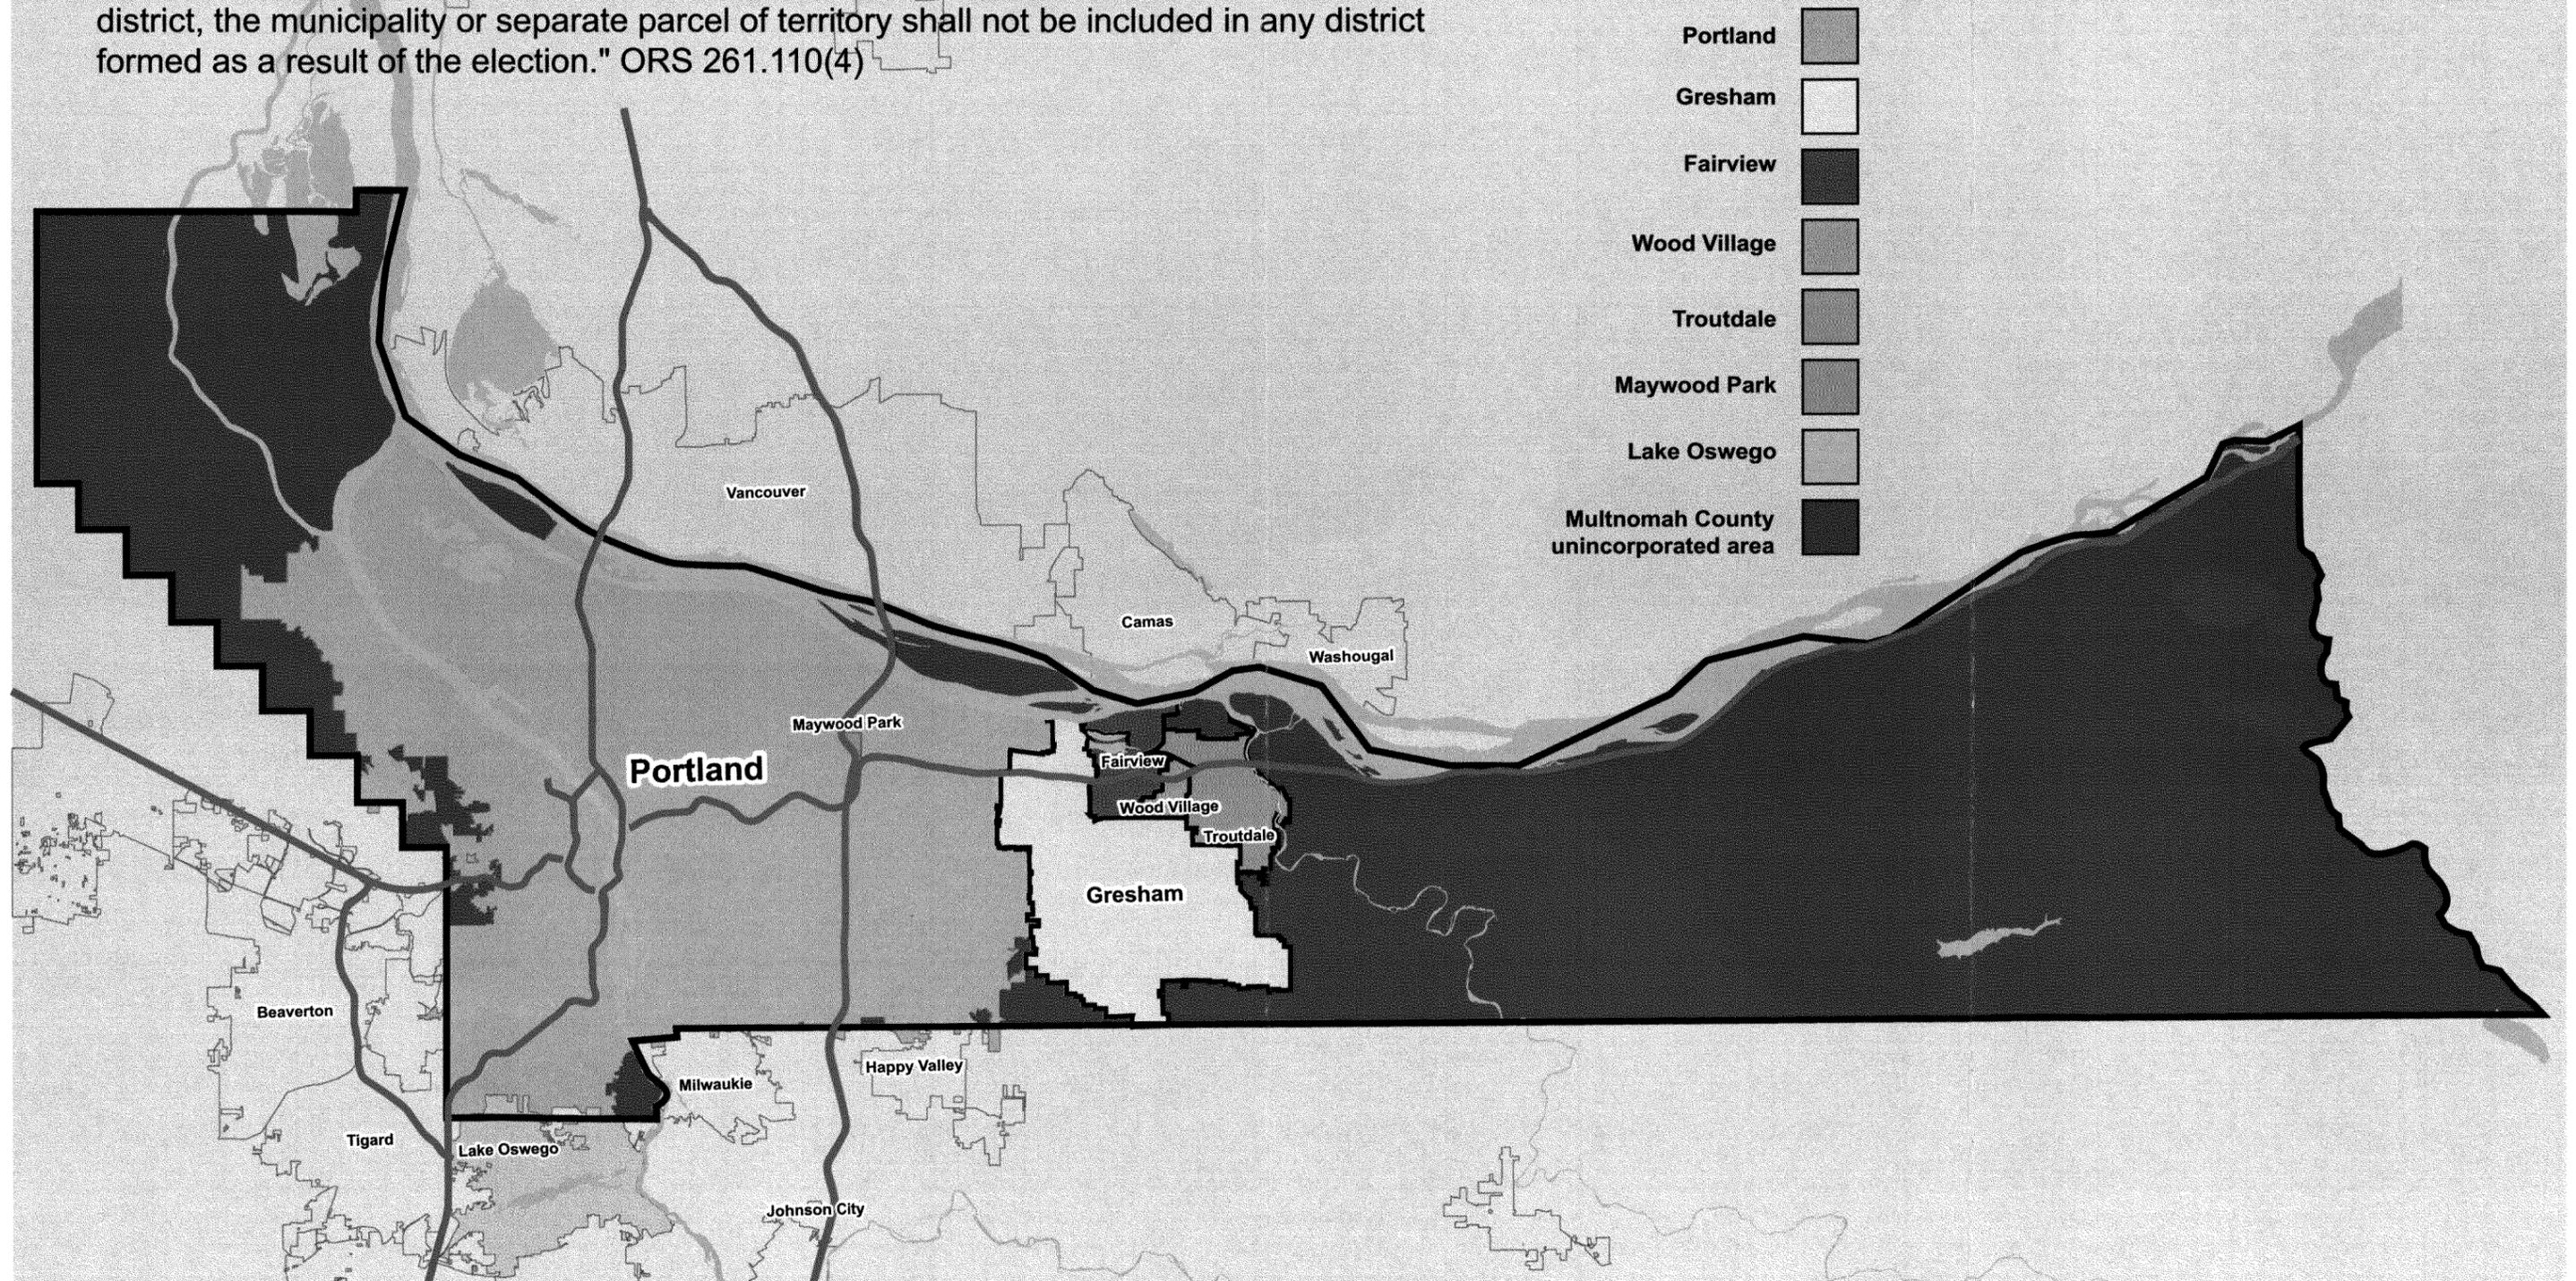

Very truly yours,

Phil Keisling

Subject: Invited testimony for PUD hearing

Just wanted to update you all on the response from our invited testimony list for our Thursday morning PUD hearing.

Portland: No testimony. Staff will attend and be willing to answer questions, but won't offer testimony.

Gresham: Councilor Shane Bemis will testify. Gresham has submitted a letter for the record.

Troutdale: No testimony. May submit testimony before the record closes.

Maywood Park: Mayor Mark Hardie will testify

Wood Village: Left message

Interlachen PUD: Jean Ridings will testify

Rockwood PUD: Left message

Oregon Office of Energy: No one can testify because they are busy with the legislature. (Agnes: Shall I call the PUC to testify on the OOE report?)

PacifiCorp will have two people testify and would like to testify before PGE.

I received a letter from the Salem Chamber of Commerce and will give to Deb.

I have not called any of the other jurisdictions from outside of Multnomah County. Shall I call Washington or Clackamas County since we won't have much testimony from jurisdictions?

- New North Portland Library
- Public Utility District
- County Budget Update
- Vote by May 20th!

Welcome to the April 2003 edition of CruzMail. My sincere apologies for the technical glitch in the last CruzMail that prompted the message to be sent out numerous times. I've been assured by the technical folks that it won't happen again!

New North Portland Library

On April 3, 2003, the Board of County Commissioners approved a resolution that directed the County to begin negotiations with the Housing Authority of Portland to site a library branch at New Columbia, the soon-to-be redeveloped Columbia Villa property.

This process began in 1999 with community advocacy for a new library in North Portland. I received a petition with over 1400 names in support of a new library to replace two former branches that were closed due to budget cuts.

The community interest in a new library coincided with two broader revitalization opportunities in North Portland – the Interstate Corridor Urban Renewal Area formed in August 2000, and the HOPE VI federal grant, that was awarded to the Housing Authority of Portland in 2001.

Our siting process included investigating 19 potential sites for the new library and two community meetings. At the end of the process, I recommended that the County proceed to work with HAP to site the library at New Columbia.

The decision to site a library at New Columbia is not without controversy and our work is far from complete. We will begin to negotiate with HAP and we will join the master design process for New Columbia. We will continue to work with the Interstate Urban Renewal Area Citizen Advisory Committee to leverage TIF funds for the tenant improvements of the new library.

Multnomah County has an opportunity to be part of one of the most exciting projects ever in North Portland. New Columbia and the new library will enhance the quality of life for North Portland. A library is a unique community asset that brings seniors, children, and people from all walks of life together.

Public Utility District (PUD)

On February 19th, a petition calling for a PUD election was certified by Multnomah County's Election Office. The Multnomah County Board of Commissioners is now required to hold hearings and take testimony in order to determine the boundaries of the proposed PUD and to set a date for the election. Our determination will be based on the testimony submitted to the Board and on the the report from Oregon Office of Energy.

Chair Linn asked me to chair the hearings on the proposed PUD boundaries. The first hearing date is set for Thursday, May 15th from 10:00am to noon and from 6:00pm to 8:00pm. Both hearings will be held in the Boardroom of the Multnomah Building, 501 SE Hawthorne Blvd. If necessary, the meeting will be continued to future meetings in order to hear all of the testimony.

There is enormous interest in the future of PGE and the implications for the 730,000 ratepayers that PGE serves throughout a six-county territory. If you wish to submit written testimony to be entered into the record, you may send it to Board Clerk Deb Bogstad, 501 SE Hawthorne Blvd Suite 600, Portland, OR 97214.

Update on County Budget & Timeline

It is budget time at the County: the Board of County Commissioners will vote on the 2003-2004 budget on June 12th. There will be a lot of work sessions and public meetings to provide input in the coming weeks. To learn more about these sessions click onto the following link:

Vote by May 20th!

These are unusual times for Multnomah County. We are facing tremendous economic challenges and a budget crisis of unprecedented proportions. We simply don't have the resources we need for basic services: like schools, seniors and safe neighborhoods. The Legislature's inability to solve the state budget crisis and the failure of Measure 28 have dealt drastic cuts to our basic services.

As a result of these budget cuts, schools are facing hundreds of teacher layoffs and increased class sizes; school districts will cut more instructional programs and school days. Many of the mentally ill have been cut off from their medication and turned out to the streets. Senior citizens and disabled folks with little or no resources have lost medication, care and housing assistance. Prisoners are being released from jail early.

Measure 26-48 is a bridge to better times, protecting the basic services we rely on for three years while we get our economy moving again. The measure does not introduce new programs, but protects and restores basic services for schools, senior citizens, mentally ill and disabled individuals, and for public safety.

Measure 26-48 will raise between $128 and $135 million each year for three years. For the typical taxpayer ($45,000/yr), this comes out to about $22/month, after state and federal deductions. Revenue from the measure goes directly to the people it is meant to help. This means:

- Money for schools will be directed to the classroom.
- Funding for human services will go directly to serve people in need.
- Money for public safety will target repeat criminals.

Don't forget to vote by May 20th!

More information on Measure 26-48 can be found at the County's webpage:
<http://www.co.multnomah.or.us/measure26-48/faq.shtml>.

As always, I welcome your feedback on these important issues.

Sincerely,

quatic and streamside vegetation, combined with clean water, attract a variety of wildlife. Most animals spend at least part of their lives around streams.

Others, like frogs and salamanders, depend totally on clean water to reproduce. Mammals like beaver, raccoon, muskrat, river otter, and mink are common residents of metropolitan streams.

While good water quality may be difficult to see, a rich variety of plants and animals, from aquatic insects to cutthroat trout, indicate a healthy watershed and clean water.

Streams are also greenspace corridors for wildlife and people. Many of our regional trails such as the 40-Mile Loop and Willamette River Greenway in Oregon and the Chinook Trail and Burnt Bridge Creek Trail in Clark County follow streams and rivers.

Without your help, government agencies cannot protect and restore urban streams. Here are some things you and your neighbors can do today:

Don't waste water: Urban streams and rivers experience low summer flows with increased population.

Landscape with native vegetation: It requires less water, pesticides and herbicides.

Revegetate stream banks with native plants: They anchor the soil and provide wildlife habitat.

Don't dump into storm drains: Motor oil, paint and other toxic materials degrade streams and wetlands. Stencil the "Dump No Waste, Drains To Stream" logo on storm drains (permission and supplies available from local agencies).

Avoid or limit use of herbicides, pesticides and fertilizers: They drain into ditches, storm drains, streams, wetlands and the groundwater.

Don't dump yard debris or grass clippings into ravines, ditches or streams: These organic materials rob a stream of its oxygen.

Report chemical spills or illegal dumping.

Adopt a stream or wetland: Form a "Friends" group to monitor, restore and preserve your neighborhood stream.

Get to know your stream: Use this and other Urban Streams brochures to explore your stream; learn how it is part of the Greenspaces Network.

On the cover

Fairview Creek meanders past the Hannon residence in Fairview. George Hannon was an advocate for stream stewardship for over 40 years.

beaver strip bark from dogwood limbs... A Belted Kingfisher waits patiently for minnows in the stream below... a mob of Red-winged Blackbirds harass a Great Blue Heron, driving it from their exposed nests... Wrens, wading birds, and waterfowl congregate in the shallower margins of the cattail marsh.

Amazingly, this is not a remote wilderness scene. It's a stream or wetland near your home, a part of our Metropolitan Greenspaces system of natural areas, open space, trails and greenways. Careful stewardship of urban streams and their associated urban forests will provide a green legacy for ourselves and future generations.

URBAN STREAMS, WETLANDS AND FORESTS ... Metropolitan greenspace networks

Most of us recognize the importance of well-maintained roads and sewers but are unaware of the important ways in which a healthy network of urban streams and forests contribute to our quality of life. Streams are crucial to maintenance of water quality and flood control, fish and wildlife habitat, enhanced property values, scenic greenways, parks and recreational corridors and educational opportunities. Streamside trees also cool the air and water, control erosion, provide fish and wildlife habitat and enhance the quality of urban life.

However, streams, just like sewers and roads, are often abused. Activities far from the stream's edge can degrade streams and their wetlands. Even some well-intentioned cleanup efforts remove streamside or riparian vegetation, destroying fish and wildlife habitat and degrading water quality. Neglected streams also become dumping grounds for trash and chemical wastes.

THE BIG PICTURE ... Watersheds & water quality

A stream is sustained by water from its entire watershed, being fed by tributaries which collect water from an area ranging from a few acres to many square miles. Some rainfall is stored as groundwater, while the rest drains directly into the stream. Urban development removes trees and other vegetation that naturally slows runoff and allows it to soak into the ground. Replacing vegetation, which filters out soil and other pollutants, with hard or impervious surfaces such as streets or parking lots causes rapid runoff and higher winter flows. Reduced groundwater lowers summertime flows, increases water temperature and decreases dissolved oxygen, which kills cold-water fish and other aquatic life.

DOWN FAIRVIEW CREEK

Just southeast of Grant Butte in Gresham, a spring-fed wetland signals the beginning of Fairview Creek, a little-known but important natural resource in East Multnomah County. The five-mile-long stream drains 11 square miles of residential, agricultural, commercial and industrial lands before entering Fairview Lake and the Columbia Slough. Citizens, businesses and public agencies formed the Fairview Creek Watershed Conservation Group to work together to improve water quality, solve flooding and erosion problems, restore the fish population and enhance livability along this important urban stream.

Roadway runoff from local streets, such as 223rd Avenue, may carry pollutants that are hazardous to fish and wildlife into the stream.

The Headwaters ••• SE Powell Boulevard to SE Division Street

The dense Douglas fir and western red cedar forests in the Grant Butte area were cleared by homesteaders during the 1850s. Remnants of the Butte's second-growth conifer and deciduous forests house more than 40 species of birds. Coyote, red fox and Red-tailed Hawk hunt the small mammals in woods and fields, while beaver and nutria inhabit the marsh below. The headwaters along Powell Boulevard, part of 37 acres owned by the City of Gresham and the only publicly owned property bordering Fairview Creek, is being restored as a natural wetland preserve. Community park facilities are also planned for the area.

SE Division Street to East Burnside Street

Passing through a culvert under Division Street, Fairview Creek disappears from view beneath Himalayan blackberries and behind the landscaping and buildings of a small business development. Re-emerging beside an abandoned rail line, the creek flows east to cross Birdsedale/202nd Avenue, resuming its northward course through open fields, a small industrial area and under the MAX light rail line. Although the stream is channelized, crayfish, minnows and some aquatic insects maintain life within this reach. American Dipper, Mallards and Great Blue Heron frequent the banks beneath red alder, willow and occasional snags.

East Burnside Street to SE Stark Street

Visible at several intersections within suburban residential developments, Fairview Creek is fenced away from most properties in this area on both banks. With education, neighborhood awareness and technical help, restoration of stream banks in this area can contribute a strong sense of community, higher property values, improved water quality and again attract wildlife and fish. Landowners along this section are already working with the Fairview Creek Group on nature-scaping and restoration projects.

SE Stark Street to NE Halsey Street

Shortly after crossing under Stark Street, the creek flows through a residential development that provides a picturesque setting to local homeowners for a private, linear park and trail. When it enters the Fujitsu Micro-electronics, Inc. property, the creek meanders among cottonwood, willow and grasses before flowing into one of two deep quarry ponds harboring a variety of nonnative fish.

Waterfowl, Green-backed Heron and Belted Kingfisher thrive around the creek-fed quarry ponds near Glisan Street.

Fairview Creek leaves Fujitsu and the City of Gresham when it crosses north beneath Glisan Street and enters the western-most of two ponds in the City of Fairview. In the fields beyond this point, the creek ceases to follow any definable channel and becomes a marsh, supporting a broad spectrum of stream-side life. Black-tailed deer and raccoon share the area with many bird species.

Volunteers and students measure water quality and quantity along Fairview Creek.

NE Halsey Street to Interstate 84

Fairview Creek is more familiar to many people north of Halsey Street where it parallels 223rd Avenue. Shaded by tall trees, the creek tumbles among rounded stones, past manicured lawns and beneath picturesque bridges. Fern, trillium, and wild rhubarb mingle with domestic plants along the mossy banks.

During periods of heavy rain, runoff from south of Glisan Street flows directly into the creek. This carries pollutants and degrades water quality that once provided ideal habitat for cut-throat trout and steelhead. Fairview residents take obvious pride, however, in their namesake stream and are working to improve the quality within this scenic attraction.

Protecting urban streams: watershed and forest management

Poor land use, unwise forest practices and eroded slopes from residential construction negatively impact a stream's water quality and quantity. Often these causes originate miles from the stream. Healthy watersheds have intact urban forests and native understory vegetation. They store and filter water, stabilize banks, provide shade and habitat and produce food for fish and other aquatic life.

Interstate 84 to Fairview Lake

North of I-84 and Sandy Boulevard, the creek angles west through cultivated berry fields, hidden by a dense buffer of vegetation, and widens as it approaches the southeast shore of Fairview Lake. Rich agricultural lands for many years, this area is now zoned for residential development. The lake itself supports Osprey, Bald Eagle, Heron and several fish species. Eventually the lake flows into the Columbia Slough, which in turn flows 18 miles into the Willamette River.

Periodic flooding has been a problem for residents along Fairview Creek, as shown here on Birdsedale Avenue. Local agencies are working to alleviate the problem.

Impervious surfaces such as parking lots, roads, roofs, and even lawns, increase stormwater runoff, carrying pollutants to streams. This contributes too much water during the winter and too little during the summer. Winter runoff scours channels and causes erosion. Successful restoration of local fish populations requires cooler, more abundant summer flows and reduced winter flows.

Be a watershed steward

You can help: Allow water to filter into the ground on your property. Create your own urban forest and backyard wildlife refuge by planting native trees and shrubs. (See Naturescaping by the Oregon Department of Fish & Wildlife.) Encourage businesses to landscape, pretreat runoff, decrease impervious surfaces and restore streamside, urban forest vegetation. Urban streams can be destroyed by individual acts of neglect, or they can be restored through the combined efforts of individuals and businesses.

The map was produced with the assistance of Metro's Data Resource Center Geographic Information System. Identification of greenspaces or natural areas is based on 1989 color infrared aerial photography of the Portland-Vancouver metropolitan region. Only 8% of the region's greenspaces are in public ownership. Specific sites referred to in this brochure are generally in public or semi-public ownership.
