

COMMISSIONER JUDY SHIPRACK

Lora Goode - 15 Years (start date: 10/2/2000)

Position: Animal Care Technician

Department of County Services

Division: Animal Services

Supervisor: Ann Potter, 503-789-4561, ext. 84610

Today I am going to talk a little bit about Lora Goode; Lora, please stand up.

Lora has dedicated her life to animals in our community. She previously worked with the Oregon Humane Society and Guide Dogs for the Blind, but for the past 15 years she has served the public as an Animal Care Technician at Animal Services. She works hard to provide care, assessment and new homes for shelter dogs and cats. Additionally, Lora often takes home some of the harder-to-adopt pets to give them a chance to blossom in a less stressful environment. A recent foster dog, Spot, is a small white semi-feral dog who was unwilling to let anyone touch him in the shelter. Lora brought him first into her office and then into her home, where every day he grows a little less fearful under her care.

In the past, when inclement weather threatened to make roads impassable overnight, Lora has been known to spend the night at the shelter to make sure that someone is there in the morning to feed and care for shelter animals, no matter what. Her caring doesn't stop with the animals though. Lora's family and co-workers benefit from her generous spirit as well. Co-workers describe her as "nurturing, dependable and someone who handles stress beautifully. "

Multnomah County is a better place for people and pets because of Lora's caring nature and her service to the community. Lora, thank you for your 15 years of service.

Steve Roskoski - 20 Years (start date: 5/27/1995)

Position: Library Assistant

Library

Division: Central Library

Supervisor: Susie Woodward, 503-988-3644, ext. 83644

Steve Roskoski, can you please stand up?

Some people find hard to believe that this young man has worked at Multnomah County Library for 20 years! When you discover that he was hired as a page right after high school, it makes a little more sense. Before that he was a library volunteer, and before that he was a library kid who went to the St. Johns library often with his mom. Steve was selected as Library Paraprofessional of the Year by Library Journal in 2008, where they noted Steve's "accomplishments during his tenure at Multnomah County Library touch upon almost everything the library does: developing employee training, introducing chat reference, supervising a branch while the manager is on leave, conducting story-times, mentoring new staffers, working on interlibrary loan and hiring, and even serving on a statewide board for online reference." He is involved with so many different aspects of the library and is currently a Lead Worker at the Central Library, where he has worked for the past 10 years. He is the master merchandiser of the library's collection at Central and a specialist in social media and one of the library's main Tweepers. In a notable FaceBook competition with the Seattle Public Library, Steve led Multnomah County Library to a sound victory. He created a special library digital collection highlighting Portland's Brew History and is an excellent early adopter of new technologies and is always looking for new and interesting ways to promote and provide library services. After 20 years with the library, Steve has an amazing knack for keeping things fresh and interesting, and he demonstrates a great love for what he does. The Library has been lucky to have such a great staff member for 20 years. Thank you Steve.

Janet Irwin - 45 Years (start date: 10/26/1970)

Position: Librarian

Library

Division: Central Library

Supervisor: Susie Woodward, 503-988-3644, ext. 83644

We are now going to talk about an employee with 45 years of service! Janet Irwin. Janet, could you please stand up?

Janet was hired as the Documents Librarian in the Popular Library in 1970, when our Library was the Library Association of Portland. During her 45 year career at Multnomah County Library, Janet has worked at many different locations in many different roles. It is a very impressive list that demonstrates Janet's range of skills and eagerness and willingness to try new things!

In 1976 when Janet was still a fairly new librarian, she coordinated our initial push to automate the library's card catalog and circulation processes, and has continued to take on many important roles as the library has changed and evolved. As a well-known genealogy specialist, she has taught many library staff how to approach searches with patrons and effectively use reference materials. She prepared an excellent guide for genealogy research that was featured on the library's website using her own family history as a search example. She carefully manages the library's treasured Oregon Collection, featuring valuable materials that tell the story of our wonderful state.

When asked her favorite part about being a librarian, Janet readily answers that it is helping and serving the public that she enjoys and values the most. Janet is also proud of her many years of work as a Union Steward, where she has been able to share important information and advocate for her colleagues. According to a colleague, Janet is a model of how to remain committed and engaged in the profession, always learning, and always growing; always expecting and striving for excellence. Thank you Janet.
